Officer Of Boy's School Slain By Inmate

LANCASTER, O., June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—John H. Karshner, 47, officer at the Boys' Industrial School, died this morning at the institution as the result of an attack made upon him by Frederick C. Mills, 16, of Akron, an inmate, last night.

Karshner received a compound fracture of the skull when Mills struck him over the head with an iron bar as the two were engaged in gathering eggs in the poultry house. Karshner is believed to have been struck seven times and remained in a semi-conscious condition until his death.

Following the assault Mills stripped the officer's body of clothing and, dressing himself in them, made his escape. He was captured four hours later by officers from the industrial school at the village of Hamburg. The attack is said to have been premeditated and was solely for the purpose of escape. Mills was received last April from Akron upon conviction of automobile stealing and carrying concealed weapons.

Karshner is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Clara Cary, secretary of the supreme court at Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Dora A. Oakwell, Irwin, Calif., and one nephew, Faxon A. Cary, of the public utilities of Columbus, Ohio. Karshner's home was at Ashville, O. The record of Mills was said to be perfect.

Whitfield, Captured, Denies He Murdered Policeman

DETROIT, MICH., June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—John I. Whitfield, whose capture here last night ended a chase that has extended through Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan, denies that he killed Dennis Griffin, Cleveland policeman, for whose slaying he is wanted in the Ohio city.

Locked in a cell here under heavy guard, Whitfield told officers that Griffin, who had Whitfield under arrest and was driving him to a police station, accidentally shot himself and left the automobile to have the wound dressed.

He said he knew nothing of what happened to the officer thereafter.

"I started to drive to a corner to tell a traffic officer about it," Whitfield is quoted as saying, "but something happened to change my mind."

He said he intended to return to Cleveland Saturday and give himself up. He is said to have admitted intimacy with Marie Price, who is soon to become a mother, but said he did not know she was only fourteen years old.

Whitfield was held incommunicado last night. Officers gave out little information regarding the arrest.

High Level Of Business Conditions Maintained

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Production and shipment of general merchandise and manufactures continued in heavy volume during May and the first half of June. A summary of general business and financial conditions made public today by the federal reserve board also revealed a sustained high level of production had been reflected in the volume of employment and in many instances advances in wages.

Wholesale commodity prices declined to some extent in six weeks ending June 15, the reduction being carried in some lines into the retail trade, and the holdings of bankers' acceptances and government securities by the reserve banks were shown to be lower than at any time in more than a year.

Production of iron and steel, cement and petroleum was larger in May than in any previous month and the rate of production was reported continuing in the early weeks of June. Mill consumption of cotton was close to a maximum in the same period.

A further decline in the value of building permits granted in the principal cities was cited in the summary, but awards of contracts, representing actual undertakings, rather than prospective operations increased in most cities.

Slight increases in employment have accompanied the unusual activity in most lines, according to the board's reports. The advances were most marked, however, in the cotton, steel, meat packing and sugar refining industries.

The condition of both winter and spring wheat was regarded as less favorable than a year ago, but the cotton crop as a whole was said to be in a better situation than at this time last year, due chiefly to favorable growing conditions in Texas. Active distribution of commodities was reflected in the heavy movement of merchandise and miscellaneous freight by the railroads. Car loadings continued in the period covered by the summary to exceed all previous seasonal records. The volume of both wholesale and retail trade increased in May and in the early weeks of June as compared with April, with wholesale dealings in meat, hardware and shoes showing particularly large increases. Decreases were reported, however, in the sales of clothing and dry goods.

Rules On Building Associations

COLUMBUS, O., June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Ohio building and loan associations, stock in which is subscribed, are governed by the provisions of the new building and loan law, if they have not commenced business prior to July 3, when the new law becomes effective, Attorney General Crabbe rule today.

The new law prohibits the issuance of certificates to operate to associations which have paid or contracted to pay commissions for the sale of stock in the company.

The section of the law providing all building and loan associations must maintain a paid up portion of their capital stock equal to five per cent does not affect associations now operating.

Drastic Move To Enforce Dry Act Discussed

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Seizure by the United States of foreign vessels bringing liquor in violation of the supreme court decision and treasury regulations is understood to have been considered in a series of conference today between treasury and prohibition officials.

Thus far there has been no attempt to do more than confiscate the liquor itself but some of the officials who sat in the conferences are understood to have urged that more drastic steps should be adopted if foreign shipping companies are to continue their policy of openly disregarding the treasury ruling against bringing liquor stores into American jurisdiction. No decision was announced.

Fifteen Inmates Escape At Delaware

DELAWARE, O., June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Fifteen inmates of the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware made their escape from the institution last night by all making a break for liberty at the same time. Twelve of the fifteen have been captured. It was announced here today.

A general alarm was sounded when the escape became known.

The girls took different directions. Eleven are being followed by officers of the institution which are expected to result in their apprehension. Officials of the state welfare department said the school is short of officers because of recent resignations.

The girls, it is said, realized this shortage and coupled with conditions at the institution since charges were filed against Mrs. Mae E. Stannard, former matron of the institution and her subsequent removal, thought the time opportune for escape.

Oklahoma Governor And Sheriff Of Okmulgee County "At War"

OKMULGEE, OKLA., June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Okmulgee county, unexpectedly was placed under martial law last night, Governor J. C. Walton proclaimed a state of lawlessness and disorder amounting to insurrection against civil war rendered necessary placing state troops in control. A great part of the country's population maintains it is bewildered by the governor's action and that it is looking about for the "condition of lawlessness and terror" described by the governor.

"Local officers either cannot or will not suppress the breaches of the peace," Governor Walton declared in his proclamation, which was accompanied by a statement signed by three Okmulgee county citizens detailing alleged abuse of power by the force of Sheriff John Russell, and declaring the sheriff had been "utterly indifferent" to a series of deprecations which threatened "serious results."

The petition to the governor for "immediate action" was signed by Rev. J. C. Curry, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, at Henrietta, John Stormont, Henrietta police chief and W. L. Sullivan, motor car dealer at that place.

Answering, Sheriff Russell declared the governor's action grew out of the arrest of several men carrying special police commissions signed by the governor and the challenging of a number of other special officers of the governor who came into Okmulgee county bearing arms. Specific allegations by the three citizens were denied by the sheriff.

Under the executive proclamation, the military forces are directed to "protect human life and keep the public peace until such time as the local civil authorities can again insure the enforcement of the law and the protection of the citizens of every race, class and condition in the enjoyment of civil rights and liberties guaranteed them by the constitution of the state and of the nation."

Experiments Prove Success, Claim Physicians 'Truth-Telling' Potion Given To Prisoners

SAN QUENTIN, CALIF., June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Scopolamin, an alkaloid, was used in experiments on three inmates of San Quentin prison here yesterday and John L. Farrar, convicted of the murder of a Chinese in Sacramento, was proved innocent; Eugene O'Leary, sentenced from Sacramento on a grand larceny charge, provided authorities with information as to his identity, and John L. Johnson, negro, admitted his guilt and confessed to participation in other crimes, according to the experimenters.

Dr. R. E. House, of Texas, conducted the experiments before several prison officials and criminal investigators.

Dr. House declared the scopolamin rendered the subjects incapable of mental inhibition and deprived them of reasoning power so that they were incapable of lying while under its influence. Other faculties, however, remained intact he said. Farrar, while under the influence of the drug, confessed that he participated in the attempted robbery of a Chinese merchant in Sacramento, during which the Chinese was killed. Farrar was convicted of murder, but, according to his story told while under the drug's influence, the fatal shot was fired by Roy Carver, an accomplice.

Harding Becomes Total Abstainer

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1923 By The Portsmouth Times)

AWLINS, Wyo., June 27.—President Harding has become a total abstainer. He meant literally the speech he delivered at Denver appealing to the people of America to give up strong drink even though their stocks were lawfully acquired before the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act were adopted. Mr. Harding, it was learned today, feels very deeply that as chief executive of the nation he should set an example of restraint although there is no law against drinking liquor one has legally acquired and Mr. Harding violated no law in taking an occasional drink in the White House.

It has become known that in the last several months, the president has refused gifts from close personal friends and has told them he meant to conform to the implications of the law as well as its specific obligations. Since the Harding administration began no liquor has been served at the table for official guests. There has been some gossip that personal friends would drop in at the White

Harding Visits One Of Nation's Big Parks

(The text of President Harding's address on Tuesday, will be found on Page Eight.)

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding traveled into Southwestern Utah today to visit Zion Park, the first of the three national playgrounds he plans to visit during his western trip.

The entry point to the park selected by the president was Cedar City and his train left for there shortly before midnight last night from Salt Lake City after the president had concluded his sixth prepared address of the trip.

The audience which filled the big Mormon Tabernacle, seating 12,000 and overflowed into the Temple grounds and the assembly hall nearby, heard the president discuss two subjects, one of which was taxation, which he selected prior to the beginning of his trip because of Utah being the home state of Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee. The other subject was the administration proposal for American membership in the permanent court of international justice and was discussed by him in an extemporaneous addition to his prepared speech.

The president in the taxation portion of his address outlined what the American government has accomplished in decreasing government costs and taxation and appealed for decrease of expenditures and taxes by state, county and municipal governments. This portion of the president's discussion of the tax program brought the most applause.

"Keep your eye everlastingly on those who administer your government units for you, your town, your county, your state, your national government. Make them understand that you are applying the rule of thrift and savings in your personal affairs and require them to apply it in their management of your public affairs. If they fail, find another set of men who will succeed. If they succeed, give such encouragement and inspiration as will be represented by a full measure of hearty appreciation for their efforts."

In appealing for sentiment favoring American adhesion to the world court, the president aroused greater enthusiasm than in his discussion of the tax problem. The war, he said, had revealed the soul of America and given the nation an aspiration, "But," he added, "the United States under the stress of post-war adjustment had drifted from its aspiration. I want America to have something of a spiritual ideal," the chief executive then asserted. "I am seeking American sentiment in favor of international court of justice. I want America to play her part in helping the world to abolish war."

Shoulder Machine Gun For American Doughboys

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Every dough boy may be practically a machine gunner in future wars, due to progress made by ordnance experts in developing a semi-automatic shoulder rifle to replace the regular service magazine gun. Recent demonstrations firing with the latest post-war model, the Garand semi-automatic, at the Aberdeen, Md., grounds has convinced many officers that they are on the road to the long-sought solution of the proper weapon for the infantry.

The Garand, named after its inventor, John C. Garand, long employed at the Springfield Arsenal, is one of numerous semi-automatic guns which army experts have been working upon. It is approximately the same size and weight as the army standard Springfield magazine action rifle, with which all American forces are equipped, said to be the most effective military rifle in that world. The Springfield, however, with operation of the bolt action necessary to reload for each shot has a maximum rate of fire of about 25 shots a minute, while the Garand developed a speed of 60 shots a minute during the firing at Aberdeen.

In many respects, the new gun is an exact counterpart of the 1903 Springfield and it is lighter than the modified Enfield produced in quantity during the war. The automatic device applies only to the breech action for the purpose of ejecting shells and reloading. It is necessary to pull the trigger each time to fire.

Plan Ford Convention

DETROIT, MICH., June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Planning vigorously to push its campaign to bring about the nomination of Henry Ford for president, probably as the leader of a third party, the Dearborn "Ford For President Club," is considering the calling of a convention of all Ford Clubs it was announced today by Rev. William Dawe, leader of the movement in the home town of the Detroit manufacturer.

While no date has been announced for the proposed convention it would be held in Dearborn, Mr. Dawe said, the object being to effect an organization and co-ordinate what thus far has been purely a spontaneous organization of Ford Clubs.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Dearborn organization to be held later will attempt to put the convention plan into a definite shape, Mr. Dawe explained.

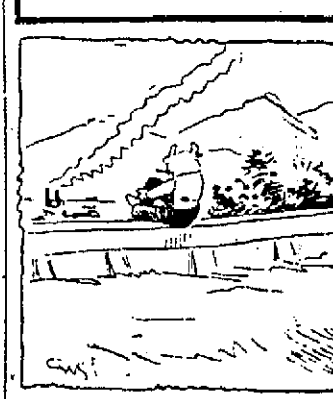

Correspondence with numerous Ford Clubs throughout the country, makes it clear, according to James E. Greene, secretary of the Dearborn organization, that the Ford supporters desire a third party.

"The movement has grown to such proportions," Mr. Greene declared, "that there is only one thing left to do, and that is to create a national organization."

J. M. Campbell, C. & O. Yard Conductor, Killed At Russell; Formerly Lived Here

The Ironton Register says: When he was caught between two cars, J. M. Campbell, aged 32, of Russell, Ky., yard conductor in the C. & O. yards at Russell, was crushed to death. He had gone in between a cut of cars and when they came together he was so severely crushed that he died almost instantly.

An inquest was held and full investigation was made into the tragic accident. The deceased was a most popular young man, and had been a resident of Russell for more than a year, having moved there from Portsmouth. He roomed at the J. N. Hanshaw home. His wife died about six months ago, but one child, aged four years, survives. Mr. Campbell was an active member of the R. of R. T. and that organization will have charge of the funeral services.

The inquest was conducted by Judge E. L. Nichols of the Greenup county court, and Deputy Sheriff Sturgill. The verdict was that "Campbell had been crushed to death between two cars."

Killed By Lightning

LONG BEACH, N. Y., June 26—Bert Savoy, of the vaudeville team of Savoy and Brennan, and Jack C. Grossman, both of New York, were struck and killed by a bolt of lightning yesterday afternoon. Two other men were injured by the same bolt.

The men were walking along the beach at the water's edge, watching the progress of an electric storm that did not reach Long Beach. Savoy and Grossman were walking together and the other men, Robert Worth, and John Haley, also of New York, were behind them. The bolt killed Savoy and Grossman instantly. Webb and Haley were knocked to the ground, severely shocked and slightly burned by the flash. They were revived a few minutes later by physicians.

Savoy was well known in the theatrical world as a female impersonator and was one of the star attractions of the Greenwich Village Follies. Grossman also was well known in the vaudeville world, playing in musical skits under the name of Jack Vincent. Worth and Haley also were connected with well-known vaudeville teams.

The four came from New York this morning to spend a few days at Savoy's summer cottage here.

Kiwanians Visit Fire Departments; Hear Address; Enjoy Chicken Dinner

Chaperoned by Service Director Strauss, the members of the local Kiwanian Club were privileged to inspect the various fire engine departments of the city. Wednesday, and not only were given a demonstration by the fire ladders to prove their versatility, and privileged to hear a splendid address by Chief Leedom, but treated to a big chicken dinner at the Seventh street house. There were more than fifty members in the party and every fellow felt like exercising his lungs as the auto transported them around the sight-seeing tour threaded their way through the maze of traffic. The Kiwanians were wonderfully impressed with the neatness of the quarters and the dapper appearance of the fire fighters, who went through their drill work with the precision of clock-work. The talk made by Chief Leedom was largely statistical in nature. He assumed his duties in 1913, and pointed to the first half of that year as compared with the first six months of 1922 to prove how rapidly the city was growing. During the first half of 1913 there were 137 alarms, and but 130 gallons of chemicals used, and 26,800 feet of hose were unwound. The buildings in which fires were discovered were valued at $304,300. In 1922, 187 alarms have been sounded; 1320 gallons of chemicals used and 40,650 feet of hose unwound. The valuation of the buildings in which fires were reported amounted to $3,073,070. Since Chief Leedom assumed charge, the care of the hydrants have been taken over and 150 new ones installed. At present the fire department is operating with fewer men, although additional responsibilities have been assumed. Since 1913, 37 new alarm boxes have been installed. At present there are more than 25 miles of wire used in the fire alarm system. The address of Chief Leedom was one of the high spots of the meeting and was much enjoyed by the Kiwanians.

CLEVELAND, O., June 27—(By the Associated Press)—Housing shortage, rentals, mortgages, the country's finances, farm land policies and various other subjects related to the real estate profession will be discussed at the sixteenth annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards which opened here today. Realtors from all over the United States and Canada are in attendance.

The convention program is the most comprehensive and exhaustive ever presented at a national gathering of real estate men, according to officials of the association. The morning program calls for business sessions of the association. Seven division meetings—home builders, and sub-dividers, brokers, mortgage and finance, property management, industrial property, farm lands and realtor secretaries—are on the afternoon program. The convention was called to order by President L. F. Eppich, of Denver. Addresses of welcome and responses were followed by talks on "a general survey of real estate conditions," by Melvin L. Morse, of Westley Hills, Mass., and "the present financial outlook," by Congressman Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio.

Speakers on the afternoon program included Dr. Richard T. Ely, Madison, Wis.; A. W. Swayne, Chicago; Goodwin Gibson, Toronto; S. S. Thorpe, Minneapolis; and Frank Ryan, Los Angeles.

The board of directors yesterday approved plans for a correspondence course in real estate with the object of further raising the standards of the profession.

Makes Bed On Tracks; Maimed For Life

Charles Wild, 18, made his bed on the D. T. & J. railroad tracks a short distance from his home at Vesuvius Station, Lawrence county, and as a result lost his legs.

A freight train came along and struck the lad, fearfully maiming both his legs. The injured youth was rushed to an Ironton hospital where it was found necessary to amputate his left leg below the knee. The shock later caused his death.

Young Wild and a companion, "Bum" McGuckin had lain down on the tracks and dropped off to sleep but the latter was aroused by the approaching train and managed to get away just in the nick of time.

Little Boy Suffers Broken Leg When Run Down By Auto

Kenneth, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Anderson, suffered a broken right leg just above the ankle yesterday when he was run down by an automobile near the home of his grandfather, W. G. Cole, Gallena pike, West Side, with whom he makes his home. Dr. W. W. Smith of this city, was called and reduced the fracture. The driver of the machine was held blameless as the boy jumped off a wagon on which he had been riding and ran into the path of the machine.

Mr. Anderson is a salesman for the Ohio Valley Coffee company.

WOMAN STEPS FROM AUTO, KILLED

Did Not Wait For Machine To Stop; Lights On Head

Miss Cora Lockhart, aged 63, who for many years had been a resident of the Minford community, was suddenly killed at 6:30 Wednesday morning when she fell out of an automobile, that she died 15 minutes later without regaining consciousness. Dr. G. W. Fishbaugh of Minford, who was called, found that she had suffered a fractured skull. The accident occurred in front of the warehouse of Stockham and Payne, who operate a general store in Minford.

Miss Lockhart, who was well known in Portsmouth, and had been here, was on her way to visit her brother, Samuel Lockhart, who lives two miles southeast of Minford, when the regrettable accident occurred. She occupied the rear seat of a machine driven by Earl Coalgrove and his father, Walter Coalgrove.

As it slowed down in front of Stockham and Payne's warehouse, Miss Lockhart, without waiting for it to stop, opened the door and stepped out. As she did so, she fell to the ground, alighting on her head.

When picked up she was unconscious and bleeding at the ears. A hurry call was answered by Dr. Fishbaugh, but his services were not needed as Miss Lockhart soon passed away. She had resided alone for years about a mile north of Minford, and was well and favorably known in that community, where her death was learned of with much sorrow.

She is survived by three brothers, Samuel, of near Minford, John, of Seventeenth street, this city, and Charles, of Huntington, Ind.

Demand Direct Taxes For Support Of Schools

By the Associated Press.—Recommendation that direct tax levies for the support of schools, abolished by the state legislature during the last session, be re-established and made much larger than ever before was made by Superintendent John Schwartz of the Butler county schools in an address before the convention of the Ohio State Teachers' Association here today.

Mr. Schwartz, whose address was a part of the association's campaign for a revision of the state's taxation system, declared that it is an obligation of the state to contribute to the upkeep of the schools and said that Ohio was far behind a number of other states in this respect.

"When in the last few years, has shown an emphatic determination to shift the burden of the support of the schools to each locality," said Mr. Schwartz, "yet it has shown an equal determination and very properly, to establish standards and formulate school policies. Certainly there is very great inconsistency existing in this regard."

Besides being used for the aid of weak school districts, revenues obtained from direct state levies under Mr. Schwartz' plan would be used to aid in paying teacher salaries, tuition in both high and elementary schools, for transportation, construction and equipment of buildings and per capita support of the schools.

Other states are aiding their school systems in such manner, he said. In aiding weak school districts Mr. Schwartz recommended that equalization first be attempted in the counties themselves and then by the state, the county school board in each case to have charge of distribution of funds.

An attempt to have the association answer charges that it was allied with the Ohio association of Real Estate Boards in seeking a referendum on the Taft and Albaugh taxation bills, was regarded as likely today. Although the executive committee of the association yesterday adopted a resolution saying in effect that the body would not act on such matters, the movement started yesterday by members of the Columbus Federation of Teachers was expected to result in a call for an expression of sentiment of the association during today's meetings.

President W. O. Thompson, of Ohio State University, was to deliver his annual address before the convention tonight.

Chillicothe Street Corner Sold

Another important real estate deal which involves a prominent downtown business section was closed Wednesday when Fred Steahly of 1701 Eleventh street purchased John Baron's two story brick business block at Fourth and Chillicothe streets which for several years has been occupied by the Schwartz Clothing company. The deal also includes the strip of ground in the rear of the Schwartz store formerly occupied by Undertaker J. L. Richards.

The property has a frontage of 38 feet on Chillicothe and 68 feet on Fourth street. The strip lying immediately back of the Schwartz store, which extends to the property occupied by the Wolff Clothing company has a depth of 68 feet. The consideration was in the neighborhood of $43,000.

Mr. Steahly stated today that he had no lease on his present building on Chillicothe street in which he has conducted a dry goods store for years. It also is owned by Mr. Barton. Mr. Steahly said that he purchased the corner property for protection. The Schwartz Clothing company has a lease on the building, which does not expire until 1926.

Congressman Knight Here This Evening

Members of the Exchange Club and their guests will be privileged at the Mary Louise tonight to hear Congressman Charles L. Knight of Kentucky, recognized as one of the most able editors in the Buckeye State. He will have a special message to deliver to the Exchanges and no doubt will be accorded a very enthusiastic reception. Congressman Knight is a fearless talker, is a man who always has something interesting to say and has the happy faculty of expressing his views so that he is readily understood.

The program for the evening has been left in the hands of a committee, consisting of C. E. Noller, D. D. Mitchell and Ralph Legler and with such men in charge, every one who attends can rest assured that an evening of real entertainment will be provided.

"Gallon Of Gas" Pays For Modern Type Of Gypsy Who Travels In Motor Vehicle

Gold necklaces, silver bracelets, and copper spangles were only part of the gaudy ornamentation of the gypsy women who passed through Portsmouth this morning about ten o'clock. Their clothes were of gaudy hues, pieced together like patches in a crazy quilt. Huge colored bandanas were around their necks and heads. Fancy braided slippers with colored pom poms were on their feet.

The men of the party were not dressed so ostentatiously. They wore work clothes. The party was composed of two families of Spanish gypsies, a worthy patriarch and his family and his eldest son's family, 20 in all traveling in a Buick touring car and a Ford truck. They were coming from the West Side where they have been camping in true gypsy fashion.

"We lived on the Pacific coast all winter," the old man chattered in Spanish, "and we want to spend the summer on the Atlantic coast somewhere. We haven't decided the exact location yet, but we shall camp it."

Henri, the eldest son, was quite talkative, especially of his army record. He wore a medal for distinguished service in the Spanish army. A dashing young man, handsomely built, with piercing eyes, olive skin and clean features, he was a perfect specimen of the medieval troubadour. "May I tell your fortune?" one of the pretty gypsies asked. The young man in the gasoline station where the party had stopped to get oil and gas held out his hand and heard of his past, present, and future. "Then instead of crossing her palm with a coin as was the habit of paying out fashion of gypsies he gave her a gallon of gas. This is the evolution of the modern gypsy."

tion with Whitfield, who had been placed under arrest on a warrant charging theft of some spark plugs. The policeman's body, stripped of its clothes, was found in a shallow grave outside Cleveland several days later. Whitfield, according to officers, will waive extradition to Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—John L. Whitfield, arrested in Detroit, late yesterday, will be placed on trial on an indictment charging him with the first degree murder of Policeman Dennis Griffin as soon as possible. Chief Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton stated today. This is expected will be about July 15.

Under the law, Whitfield cannot be arraigned until twenty-four hours after a copy of the indictment has been served on him. Then he is allowed about fifteen days in which to prepare a defense.

Detective Edward Conroy was dispatched to Detroit to assist Detective Lieutenant Charles O. Nevel in bringing Whitfield back. He was given orders to take no chances with Whitfield and to "use your gun." The officers may return here with Whitfield late today.

Because of the secrecy maintained by Chief Graul, it was a surprised and happy police department that learned of the fugitive's capture.

Breaks Glass; Fined
R. A. Gilmore was fined $10 and costs in Municipal court Monday under his admission of guilt to breaking glass in the street instead of on a statutory charge as was erroneously reported.

His wife and child reside at Manchester, O., as do also his parents. As his legs are cut off close to his body he goes about strapped to a little low truck, which is equipped with small rollers, which he pushes about by means of two blocks held in his hands. He can thus roll about faster than most people walk.

Trapped By Detectives
DETROIT, Mich., June 26.—Cornered by 25 policemen and detectives in a Michigan-avenue lumber yard where, for several weeks he had been working as foreman of drivers, John L. Whitfield, wanted in Cleveland, Ohio, for the murder of Patrolman Dennis Griffin, was captured last night.

Whitfield was traced here from Madison, Wis., through Chicago by Detective Lieutenant Charles O. Nevel, of the Cleveland police. Nevel and a squadron of police and detectives, heavily armed with revolvers and riot guns, surrounded the plant of the Ternes Coal and Lumber Company late yesterday.

When men with riot guns had been placed about the yard, Nevel accosted Whitfield, who was walking through the yards. Whitfield was started and made as though to dash toward a small office nearby.

Nevel poked a revolver against the fugitive's head and ordered him to hold up his hands. Whitfield was then handcuffed and taken to police headquarters.

Whitfield told officers he would waive extradition and "take his chances" in Cleveland Courts.

The arrest of Whitfield ends a chase that had its beginning in a warrant charging Whitfield with the theft of some spark plugs. Patrolman Griffin had arrested Whitfield on this warrant and had started with him in an automobile for his precinct station, when Whitfield asked permission to be taken to his home to change his clothes.

Griffin granted the request, after having searched his prisoner. At his home Whitfield went into a room to change clothes and, it is believed, he secreted a revolver in his pocket at that time. Captor and captive then re-entered the policeman's automobile and Griffin drove toward the police station.

When near their destination, according to the charges made against Whitfield, he drew a revolver and shot the patrolman through the neck, killing him instantly.

Whitfield, according to the charges, then drove 28 miles into the country, stripped his victim of all clothing, dug a shallow grave, dumped the patrolman's body into it and then covered it with two feet of earth.

The body was found several days later.

Is Second Time Arrested.
CLEVELAND, O., June 27.—The capture of John L. Whitfield brings to an end a nation-wide hunt, which started on May 11, with the disappearance of Patrolman Dennis Griffin. He is under indictment for the first degree murder of Griffin.

It is the second time that Whitfield has been arrested since he left here on May 11 with Marie Price, a 14-year-old girl, in the roadster in which Griffin is believed to have been slain. He and the girl were taken into custody in a Madison, (Wis.), restaurant on the night of May 22, but Whitfield escaped from two policemen, while they were waiting for a patrol wagon.

After escaping from the Madison police, Whitfield is alleged to have stolen another automobile and returned to Chicago, where according to Miss Price they spent several days. She gave the authorities information which led to the recovery from a Chicago garage owner of the revolver with which Griffin is thought to have been shot.

The girl, who expects to become a mother next month, was brought back to Cleveland. After being held in jail about a week as a material witness, she was released on $5,000 personal bail at the request of County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton. She returned to her home in Port Wayne, Ind., with her mother, Mrs. Arabelle Price, who joined her in Madison.

Rewards totaling about $2,000 have been offered for Whitfield's arrest.

Harding

House, or meet the president at the golf links and offer a drink from a flask very much as might happen in the offices of senator and representatives, but while Mr. Harding has since early Marion days enjoyed a sociable drink, he has had no regrets about practicing self-denial for he believes the greater good to be accomplished nationally by a strict observance of prohibition more than makes up for the indulgence.

Close reading of the president's speech at Denver will reveal that he feels very keenly the rivalry of classes in America. The resentment of the working people over the fact that the rich can secure all the liquor they want, irrespective of price. What Mr. Harding realizes of course, is that there always will be available, through one channel or another, some supply from sources that cannot be stopped to the wealthy. Mr. Harding appeals in the hope that they will voluntarily abstain from violating the law in purchasing liquor, and that they will either destroy what they have or fail to renew their supply when it is exhausted.

The president thinks the very security of American institutions depends on the attitude that the wealthy folks of the land take toward the Volstead law. If one law can be ignored, and an amendment held in contempt, he fears the whole structure will collapse. As for himself, the president has taken the matter to heart, and while the public hasn't known it, nevertheless it is a fact that for some time Mr. Harding has been abstaining and that he means to keep his household dry and will refrain even when away from the White House from accepting the invitations of friends or their gifts.

Mr. Harding's sense of increased responsibility has been no sudden development, his intimates say. He has been gradually coming to the conclusion that the sooner universal prohibition is actually practiced the better will it be for the moral fibre of the nation and the sooner will come those modifications of existing law, that the people shall desire. His own prediction is that the longer prohibition is in effect the greater the likelihood that the changes in the law will be in the direction of effective enforcement rather than relaxation but even if the sentiment of the nation were to swing to a 2.75 per cent beer the chances are that such a change would follow a period of absolute drought so far as strong drink is concerned. Instead of an era of continued bootlegging of whiskey that seems to be the trend of the president's mind at present. So long as the Volstead law is on the statute books the president himself will set the example of the nation in refraining from accepting any pre-Volsteadian drink, from his friends in the intimacy of the White House circle for Mr. Harding has taken the pledge, not in written form, but with the conscience and the time may not be far off when he will appeal to the nation to do likewise.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Michael, husband of Jenny Pen-den, disappeared from his home on Dartmoor. He is last seen in the company of Robert Redmayne, uncle to Jenny, when the two men visit a new bungalow being built by Michael near Fossington Quarry.
Blood is found on the floor of the cottage and witnesses testify to having seen Robert ride away on his motor-bicycle with a heavy sack behind the saddle. The sack is found in a rabbit hole a few distance from the scene of the supposed murder.

Mark Brendon, famous criminal investigator, is engaged by Jenny to solve the mystery. Jenny goes to live with her uncle Bendigo Redmayne. Brendon calls at Bendigo's home and meets Giuseppe Doris, who works there.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Bendigo Redmayne grumbled.
"Come in and see the letter," he said. "I never thought you'd find it. It's all very terrible indeed and I'm damned if I understand anything about it. But one fact is clear: my brother wrote this letter and he wrote it from Plymouth; and since he hasn't been reported from Plymouth, I feel very little doubt the thing he wanted to happen has happened."

Then he turned to his niece.
"Well, have a cup of tea in half an hour, Jenny. Meantime I'll take
Mr. Brendon up to the tower room along with me."

Mrs. Pendean disappeared into the house and Mark followed her with the sailor.
They passed through a square hall

full of various foreign curiosities collected by the owner. Then they ascended into a large, octagonal chamber, like the lantern of a light-house, which surmounted the dwelling.

"My lookout," explained Mr. Redmayne, "in four weather I spend all my time up here, and with your strong, three-inch telescope I can pick up what's doing at sea. A bunk in the corner, you see. I often sleep up here, too."

"You might almost as well be afloat," said Brendon, and the remark pleased Bendigo.

"That's how I feel; and I can tell you there's a bit of movement, too, sometimes. I never wish to see bigger water than beat these cliffs during the south-easter last March. We shook to our keel, I can tell you."

He went to a tall cupboard in a corner, unlocked it and brought out a square, wooden desk of old-fashioned pattern. This he opened and produced a letter which he handed to the detective.

Brendon sat down in a chair under the open window and read this communication slowly. The writing was large and sprawling; it sloped slightly upward from left to right across the sheet and left a triangle of white paper at the right-hand bottom corner.

"Dear Ben: It's all over. I've done in Michael Pendean and put him where only Judgment Day will find him. Something drove me to it; but all the same I'm sorry now it's done—not for him but myself. I shall clear tonight, with luck, for France. If I can send an address later I will. Look after Jenny—she's well rid of the blighter. When things have blown over I may come back.
Tell Albert and tell Flo.

Yours,
"R. R."

Brendon examined the letter and the envelope that contained it.
"Have you another communication—something from the past I can compare with this?" he asked.

Bendigo nodded.

"I reckoned you'd want that," he answered and produced a second letter from his desk.

It related to Robert Redmayne's engagement to be married and the writing was identical.

"And what do you think he's done,
Mr. Redmayne?" Brendon asked, pocketing the two communications.

"I think he's done what he hoped to do. At this time of year you'll see a dozen Spanish and Brittany onion boats lying down by the Barbican at Plymouth, every day of the week.
And if poor Bob got there, no doubt plenty of chaps would hide him when he offered ten money enough to make it worth while. Once aboard one of those sloops, he'd be about as safe as he would be anywhere.
They'd land him at St. Malo, or somewhere down there, and he'd give you the slip."

"And, until it was found out that he was mad, we might hear no more about him."

"WHY SHOULD IT BE FOUND THAT HE WAS MAD?" ASKED BENDIGO.

"Why should it be found that he was mad?" asked Bendigo. "He was mad when he killed this innocent man, no doubt, because none but a lunatic would have done such an awful thing or been so cunning in carrying out the sort of childish cunning that gave him away from the start. But once he'd done what this twist in his brain drove him to do, then I judge that his madness very likely left him. If you caught him tomorrow, you'd possibly find him as sane as you would find any other subject. He'd worked up his old hatred of Michael Pendean, as a shirker in the war, until it festered in his head and poisoned his mind, so as he couldn't get it under. That's how I read it. I had a pretty good contempt for the poor chap myself and was properly savage with my niece, when she wedded him against our wishes; but my feeling didn't turn my head, and I felt glad to hear that Pendean was an honest man, who did the best he could at the Moss Depot."

Brendon considered.

"A very sound view," he said, "and likely to be correct. On the strength of this letter, we may conclude that when he went home, after disposing of the body under Bery Bend, your brother must have disguised himself in some way and taken an early train from Pington to Newton Abbot and from Newton Abbot to Plymouth. He would already have been there and lying low before the hunt began."

"That's how I figure it," answered the sailor.

"When did you last see him, Mr. Redmayne?"

"Somewhere about a month ago. He came over for the day with Miss Reed—the young woman he was going to marry."

"Was he all right then?"

Bendigo considered and scratched in his red beard.

"Noisy, full of chatter, but much as usual."

"Did he mention Mr. and Mrs.
Pendean?"

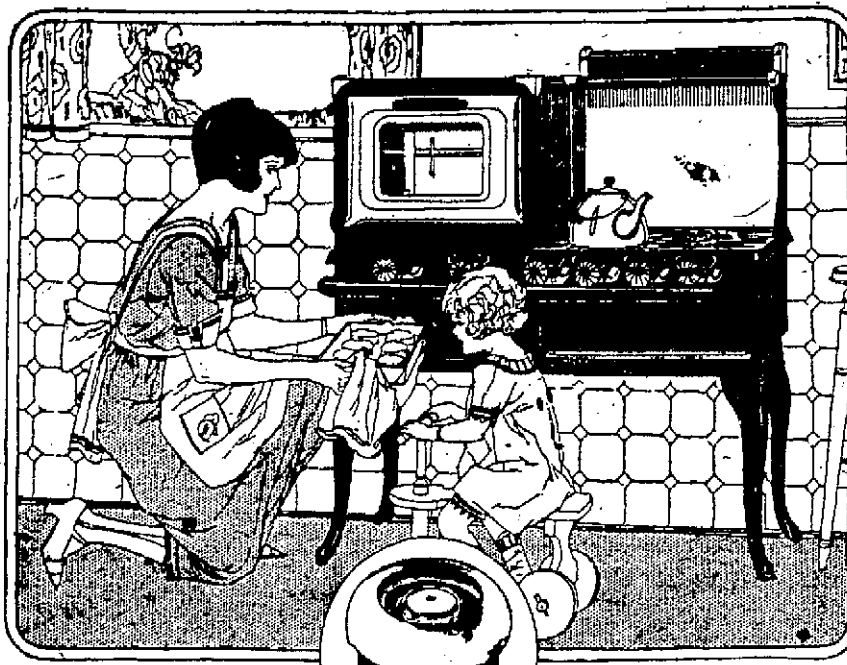

"Not a word. He was full up with

HEARING NEXT MONDAY

IRONTON, June 27.—Stanton Smith, charged with shooting Garland Hollday with intent to kill, and Eddie Singer, charged with inciting, aiding and abetting the crime, furnished bond in the sum of $1,000 in Squire Jones' court and were released pending their hearing at 1:00 p. m. next Monday. Singer was arrested Saturday night by Sheriff DeWent and Deputy Wilson.

Miss Wise—I am a stranger in the city and came from a smaller town in Michigan. My children have heard others talk about going to the playgrounds in the morning. Do they have to pay anything, and do they have a teacher?

MRS. M. E. S. The playgrounds are run by the school board, and are for all children. There are two in the city, one at Tracy Park at Ninth and Chillicothe streets, and one at York Park, on Front at Court street. Both playgrounds are in charge of supervisors who give careful attention to the youngsters. There is no tuition charged. There are Bible schools open at various churches during the mornings also. The playgrounds are open all day.

Matrice—Don't take it so hard. Usually when a girl gives you the "guts," a fellow tries to find out why it is. So why don't you ask her the reason? Even if the result would be unpleasant, it is far better to be square, don't you think? If she does not want your attention, she should tell you. Then you should have other interests, and at the same time be good friends with her. If you have come with her as long as you say, maybe she thinks that the time has come to pay this question. Otherwise, you shouldn't take up her time.

Dear Miss Wise—I am coming to you for some advice. There is a lady in our town that is a real lady, everyone thinks, and at least she acts like a lady. Her husband left her sometime ago for a girl and has been living with this girl ever since. They have two children and she comes home to see her parents and her parents know she is not married. Her mother will talk about those children as though they were legitimate children. Now, Dolly, which one of those do you think is in fault, her or her parents? And of course I know that the law would stop them from this life of shame they are living, but do you think that after they have a family that they should be made a public talk of? And do you think they should be reported or left alone to rear their two children? He has children here who know nothing of this shame. Give me your advice, S. S. S.

ANYONE who will follow a simple CERTO recipe can make perfect jam or jelly with any kind of fruit. Only one minute's boiling required—no re-boiling, the right consistency the first time. This gives the delicate color and taste of fresh fruit. Since no fruit juice is boiled away, you get one-half more product—so with CERTO cost per jar is less.

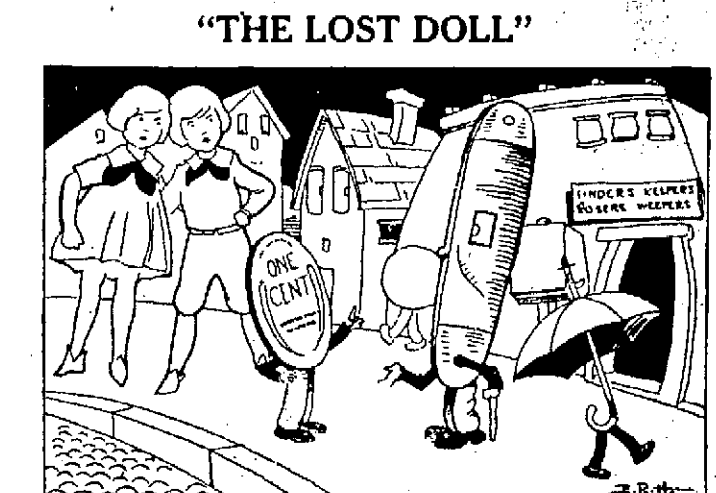

Start making jam and jelly now and see how easy it is to fill your shelves. CERTO is the actual "jelly" property of fruit—it contains no gelatin or preservative.

Smile, Please!

The photographer wants to get a cheerful, happy picture of your face. He asks for a genial, smiling, easy expression. But your stomach says "No!" And when the picture comes from the studio you throw them into the basket. They are worthless as photographs, but they are important warning to sensible men and women.
If your stomach cannot digest food, your stomach suffers from acidity and all its signs, then it is time to treat the stomach. But be sure to give it the right treatment.
A tested prescription, carefully compounded is ready for you in M-O-N-A Tablets. It is a natural remedy, which brings about wonderful results.
They counteract acidity as surely as a chemical neutralizer, an acid in the laboratory. Its help is to correct this condition, they contribute the habit of good digestion.
The required number of tablets from the war strip and take after eating. Get the good out of your food and leave the ranks of sufferers from dyspepsia.
Use M-O-N-A Tablets for acid stomach and indigestion.
Guaranteed, sold and money-backed by druggists everywhere and by Wurster Bros.—Advertisement.

Joint-Ease For Burning Feet

Now that we know that aching, burning feet are caused by trouble in the small bones in the arches of the feet—
And that trouble can only be reached by Joint-Ease, a stainless emollient that soaks right in through skin and flesh direct to the joints and ligaments.
Isn't it about time to discard powders and medicinal baths that only reach the outside of the skin?
And rub on Joint-Ease, that in two minutes starts to soothe and heal the inside troubles that cause soreness and burning.
Rub it on tonight and if there is any burning left in the morning it won't be enough to bother. Fisher & Streich Pharmacy. All druggists. A tube, 60 cents.—Advertisement.

United States Tires are Good Tires -and "USCO" confirms it!

YOUR enthusiasm over "USCO" performance won't surprise the motorist who knows the fabric tire field.

Every 30 x 3 1/2 tire user recognizes "USCO" as a value to be respected and to be investigated.

The users of "USCO" know it as a money's worth that came before the public as a leader and that has maintained its leadership.

"USCO" is made by the same people who make Royal Cords.

Where Did Republican Committee Get The Two Million? The Question In Washington

Permanent Wave Effect Now Quick, Cheap and Easy

New Liquid Puts 7-Day Curl in Straight Hair

A marvelous new liquid has been discovered which means that keeping the hair wavy and in curl is now one of the easiest things in the world.

No matter how straight, dull or stubborn the hair may be, just one application of this new liquid will give it a charming permanent wave effect—lasting from 7 to 10 days! No need to pay big fees to hairdressers. No need to fuss with your hair every day to keep it curly. No need to use ruinous hot irons. You can use ordinary silk or kid curlers, but before doing so moisten the hair with a few drops of this liquid, called Domino Curlette. Then watch the results. You will find that your hair acquires a charming new softness and fluff, that it falls in beautifully natural waves and curls, and best of all, that it stays wonderfully wavy and curly for a full week or longer.

Think of being able to forget all about your hair for a whole week, knowing that Domino Curlette will keep it beautifully wavy and curly, as well as charmingly neat, and well dressed. And it's so inexpensive—just a few cents an application!

Get Domino Curlette to-day for just a small price. Money back if you say so. Sold at good drug stores and department stores everywhere, including Fisher & Streich Pharmacy, Stewart's Cut Rate Drug Store, Brandel Pharmacy—Advertisement.

Damage Suit Taken Under Advisement

Evidence in the suit of J. B. Frostick, of the Independent Text and Transfer company, against Sherman Nevill, Mineral Springs. Adams county man, was heard in Municipal court yesterday and was taken under advisement by the court.

Frostick sued for damages to a taxicab which figured in a collision with Nevill's machine on Gallia street a week ago, alleging that the defendant was to blame for the accident by cutting a corner. The court at the conclusion of the evidence requested each of the parties to the suit to file a statement of the actual damages to their cars.

NEIGHBORHOOD ROW IS AIRED

Mrs. Samantha Mings and Mrs. Nellie Branson, both of the Milldale addition, back of New Boston, were in Municipal court yesterday to answer to charges filed by the other for assault and battery. The hearing disclosed that the complaints grew out of some difficulty between the two women one day last week when they staged a pitched battle in a potato patch and during hostilities rocks were the chief weapons used.

It cropped out during the trial that there had been ill feeling between the families for some time and after hearing from both sides the court continued the cases for further developments with a warning to the parties to avoid further trouble.

To Install Officers

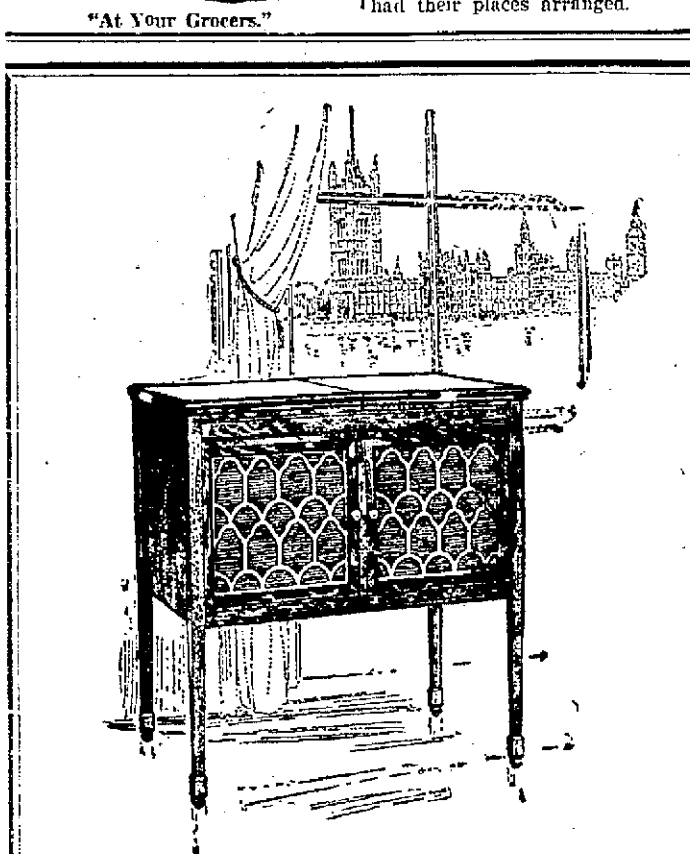

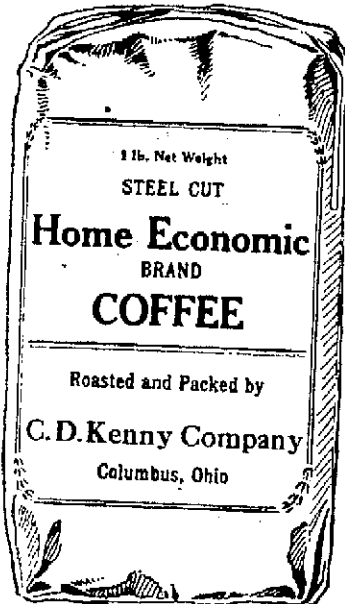

Next Tuesday Night

A report on the rally of Franklin county Pythians held last week at the State Fair grounds, Columbus, was given at a meeting of Peerless Lodge, Knights of Pythias, last night by Willard Thompson. Plans were also made for the conferring of the degree on two candidates and for the installation of the following officers at the meeting next Tuesday:

U. S. Singer—Chancellor commander.
Ernest Foor—Vice-chancellor.
Carl Davis—Proctor.
R. E. Sutton—Master-at-arms.
J. C. Sleight—Inner Guard.
G. E. Gunn—Outer Guard.
Floyd Lawson—Master of exchequer.
Willard Thompson—Master of finance.
Frank Geiger—Master of work.

Find Local Bakeries In Splendid Shape

Joseph Tracy, inspector of bake shops, and Edwin James, food inspector of the State Department of Agriculture, Columbus, were in the city Tuesday and with William West, plumbing inspector of this city, made an inspection of all bakeries. After making a tour of the bake shops the inspectors highly complimented the proprietors on the cleanliness of their shops and the manner in which they had their places arranged.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—Where did the Republican National Committee get the $2,000,000 needed to wipe out the deficit incurred in the election of President Harding?

That is a question that has been agitating political circles in Washington ever since Treasurer Fred W. Upham, prior to his recent departure for Europe, announced that the National Committee was square with the world, and had money in the bank.

Mr. Upham boastfully declared that during his term as treasurer of the Republican National Committee, more than $2,000,000 had passed through his hands.

The sources tapped by the committee for this vast sum are carefully guarded by those who know them. On the question of the deficit Mr. Upham and his associates maintain an impressive silence, other than to state that all bills have been paid and the books cleared for the campaign of 1924.

Politicians here are contrasting the great facility with which Republican leaders "raised the dough" with the difficulties experienced by Democratic leaders in wiping out a $220,000 deficit that was incurred in the campaign of 1920.

To date, the best that the Democrats have been able to show is $50,000 raised in small sums from loyal Democrats throughout the country. On the eve of another national campaign, the Democrats still have unpaid bills of $170,000, and they are trying to liquidate them through the Victory clubs that have been organized in all sections of the country.

The refusal of the Republican leaders to divulge the names of generous donors directs attention to a defect in the federal corrupt practices act that is likely to get attention from Democrats and Progressive Republicans during the next Congress.

Under existing laws, campaign managers are required to account for monies received and disbursed during the active period of a campaign. Money promised prior to a campaign and paid after its close need not be reported, a fact that is proving most convenient to Treasurer Upham.

The situation opens up a lot of interesting speculation. Politicians are asking whether it is not a fact that the Republican deficit was deliberately incurred, to get around the embarrassment of making an accounting to those who paid for the election of President Harding.

Interests that were behind the Harding candidacy are known to have given assurance that if he were nominated at the Chicago convention, there would be ample funds to assure his election. The financial statement filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives does not contain the names of any of the big contributors of past years. This at the time was regarded as significant and caused a great deal of comment.

It is a widely-held opinion here that an arrangement was made with Republican leaders whereby these guarantees should not be redeemed until after the provisions of the corrupt practices act had been met. The fact that no trouble was experienced in raising the $2,000,000 deficit gives color to this surmise.

Progressive Republicans and Democrats are saying that if Congress ever succeeds in getting at the bottom of the Teapot Dome oil scandal, it will be able to trace at least a portion of the sum contributed to the Republican National Committee treasury. It is absolutely certain that renewed efforts to investigate that transaction will be launched immediately Congress convenes, with better success than attended repeated similar efforts at the last session.

Senator LeFollette, through his committee on Manufactures, is in position to reopen the inquiry into oil that he started last summer, and it is expected that he will do so.

Whether or not anything along the line of exposing the interests that paid the Republican deficit is accomplished, an attempt will be made to amend the corrupt practices act that it may cover not only monies paid during a campaign, but also before and after.

As the situation now stands, a campaign committee, by the use of its credit, can expend unlimited sums in an election and merely report a deficit. Then, when the smoke of battle has cleared, the "fat-freers" can go out among the big interests and cash in on pre-campaign pledges.

Republican leaders are worried over the possibility that an effort may be made at the forthcoming session of Congress to secure the appointment of a committee to investigate the liquidation of the $2,000,000 deficit. Exposure of the source of this contribution is just about the last thing they want.

For, if there is any basis for reports that have been current in Washington for some time, when the public knows all about this transaction, it will also know what happened at the room in the Blackstone Hotel at Chicago when representatives of large interests persuaded convention leaders to give the nomination to Mr. Harding.

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR WOMEN

When Mr. Myers of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, stepped into the drug store and asked his druggist for the best medicine he had in his store for woman's ills, is it any wonder he was handed a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Mrs. L. K. Myers in writing of it says: "I had been weak run down and had a pain in my left side for a long time, so I could not do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me in a short time so I was able to do all my housework including washing and ironing, and now I feel fine all the time." As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for benefiting 98 women out of every 100 women who take it, it will pay every suffering woman to try it.—Advertisement.

Rebekahs Celebrate Anniversary

Appropriate ceremonies marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of the receipt of the charter of Manila Lodge Daughters of Rebekah, which was celebrated with special exercises in Odd Fellows hall, Fifth and Court street, Tuesday night.

The program of the evening included readings and talks by each of the charter members who were present: Mrs. Anna Brunner, Mrs. Mary Boyles, Henderson Cottle, Mrs. Mary Cottle, Mrs. Fannie Craig, Mrs. Alice Essman, Mrs. Elizabeth Freshell, Mrs. Emma Haquard, Charles Locher and Miss Clara Lambley. The other living charter members were unable to be present on account of illness.

Eighteen of the one hundred and three members enrolled at the time of the installation twenty-five years ago are now living.

At the close of the meeting refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch, were served.

Oil Company Gets Site

WELLSTON, June 27.—The Inter-Cities Oil Company has purchased a lot 60x90 on Simpson street and Ohio avenue of the Milton Iron Company and will erect thereon a modern filling station. The consideration is $100 per front foot, or $6,000. The property is most advantageously situated as there is a sidetrack at the rear so that storage tanks may be constructed close by.

JACKSON, June 27.—In common pleas court today, Judge Benner Jones granted a decree of divorce to May Bentline from Fred W. Bentline, on the grounds of willful neglect of duty. Howard Ankrom represented the plaintiff.

WANTED

The name of a dealer who says that any imitation is like Palmolive Soap. Not for prosecution, but to correct him—for the good of all concerned.

Common soaps are colored, shaped and named to make folks think they get Palmolive virtues in them. But they do not bring what you seek—what you buy Palmolive for. They are nothing like Palmolive.

Stop and think. There are countless soaps. But Palmolive has become the leading toilet soap of the world.

It brings envied complexions. Then users tell others about it. Millions of beauty lovers now employ it daily. All because of a palm and olive oil blend which our experts alone have perfected.

Now some makers try to deceive you. They make soaps to look like Palmolive, with a name of some similar sound. Just because women prize Palmolive. They want the benefits it brings. So the way to sell you common soap is to make it seem Palmolive.

If Palmolive is the soap you want, be careful that you get it. This is the soap that won world-wide fame by fostering fine complexions.

This is the quality soap—a 25-cent quality—which volume produces for 10 cents, so all folks may enjoy it.

This is the oil blend that does for your skin what every woman wants. If you ever find a better soap, get it. A soft, rosy skin is worth any price you pay.

But avoid deception. Don't buy an ordinary soap made to look or to sound like Palmolive. That cheats you of something you prize. Look at the name and wrapper.

President Makes Plea For States, Counties And Municipalities To Follow Example Of Administration In Cutting Debts

Nation Nearing Tax Reductions, Says Harding

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, June 27.—President Harding outlined last night what the federal government has accomplished in decreasing taxes and the public debt and made a plea for action along similar lines by the states, municipalities and counties.

The executive said the federal government is "diligently seeking to prove itself a helpful example," in removing what he characterized as the menace of mounting taxes and growing public indebtedness, but added that this was not alone a federal problem, that "the improved order must come into the units of government into which the federal government never intrudes."

Mr. Harding did not take up in his address any contemplated administrative program for tax revision in the coming year. He did say, however, that the federal government was "endeavoring to bring about a program which involves extinguishing a half billion of the public debt each year," and asserted that the payments which the British government will make under the British-American debt settlement "will correspondingly relieve the burden upon American taxpayers."

The president declared no other country in the world had been able to make such a record in public debt reduction as had the United States. Pointing to a reduction of more than one-half in federal taxes during the past two years as compared with the war load peak in 1920, he declared this was the "record of business administration to which the party now in control of the administration feels justified in referring with no small measure of satisfaction."

The British debt settlement, the executive went on, has been "acclaimed all over the world as one of the most notable and successful fiscal accomplishments ever recorded." He added that aside from reducing the burden of American taxpayers, the settlement had been one of the "most treasuring events since the armistice," coming as it did at a time of "widespread uncertainty and misgiving throughout the world of business everywhere."

Lauds Budget Bureau. To the budget bureau Mr. Harding attributed much of the credit for getting government expenditures back to something like normal. Under this plan, he declared, the administration has been able to "awaken a spirit of economy and efficiency in the public service."

"We have introduced business methods in government," he added, "and instead of operating blindly

TEXT OF THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

My Fellow Countrymen: There is a suggestion of personal tribute in choosing my topic for an address in Salt Lake City. I have so long associated Senator Smoot with great problems of taxation, and have witnessed so much of his able and faithful endeavor to enforce economy and thereby lift the burdens of taxation, that I find myself involuntarily thinking, when I come to your State, of the menace of mounting taxes and growing public indebtedness. The removal of this menace is not alone a Federal problem, for we are recording gratifying progress so far as the Nation is concerned, but the larger menace today is to be faced by municipality, county, and State. The Federal Government is diligently seeking to prove itself a helpful example, but the improved order must come into the units of government into which the Federal Government never intrudes.

Perhaps the budget system would not accomplish so much for taxing and spending divisions smaller than the state, but a resolute commitment to strike at all extravagance and expend public funds as one would expend his personal and business affairs will accomplish wonders.

Figures furnished to him by both the treasury and the census bureau the president stated, "make it perfectly plain that whereas the cost of federal government is being steadily reduced, the cost of state and local governments is being just as steadily increased year by year."

"There is but one way for the community finally to get back on its feet, and that is to go seriously about paying its debts and reducing its expenditures. That is what the world must face. The greatest and richest government must face it, and so must the humblest citizen."

"If I could urge upon the American people a single rule applicable to every one of them as individuals and to every political or corporate unit among them, it would be to learn to spend somewhat less than your income all the time. If you have debts, reduce them as rapidly as you can; if you are one of the fortunate few who have no debts, make it a rule to save something every year."

"Keep your eye everlastingly on those who administer your governmental units for you, your town, your county, your state, your nation, and that is to be applying the rule of thrift and savings in your public affairs. If they fail, find other public servants who will succeed. If they succeed, give them such encouragement and inspiration as will be represented by a full measure of hearty appreciation for their efforts."

Thousands Turned Away. The Mormon Tabernacle, which seats 15,000 persons, was jammed to the doors last night to hear President Harding speak.

Thousands more were gathered outside on the tabernacle grounds to hear the address, the sixth prepared speech of Mr. Harding's western trip, by means of voice amplifying apparatus. The assembly hall nearby in the temple grounds likewise was filled.

spending. This was inevitable, but that fact does not make the results any easier to deal with. The cost of government, of business, of every domestic establishment went up enormously. Every business man, and every householder, knows how it affected his personal concern. I want to suggest some of the ways in which it affected the whole business of government: government of the states, the cities, the nation, the expense of every revenue-raising and spending division throughout the nation.

Recently I have been furnished with some specific figures on this subject of the cost of government by the Bureau of the Census. I am not proposing to impose upon your patience with an elaborate presentation of figures, but I want to suggest a few that will point my observations at the enormously increased cost of government everywhere. Take the cost of state governments. I am informed that the revenues of the states in 1913 aggregated $38,000,000, and that in 1921 they had increased to $60,000,000; that is, they had increased 161 per cent, and every dollar of that increase had to come in some way or other from the public. The expenditures of the states in 1913 aggregated $38,000,000, and in 1921 they were $1,005,000,000, an increase of 108 per cent. The indebtedness of the states in 1913 amounted to $423,000,000, and in 1921 it had increased to $1,012,000,000, an increase of 139 per cent.

Turn now to the cost of city government. The Census Bureau has compiled data on the governments of 227 of the large cities. It is shown that these cities in 1913 collected $890,000,000 in all revenues, and in 1921 they collected $1,567,000,000; that is, they were compelled to take 76 per cent more in taxes in 1921 than they had taken in 1913. The same group of cities expended in 1913, $1,010,000,000, and in 1921, $1,726,000,000—an increase of 71 per cent. The total debt of the group of cities in 1913 was $2,901,000,000, which by 1921 had risen to $4,334,000,000—an increase of 49 per cent.

County administration appears, from the rather limited information which at this time the census authorities have been able to produce, to have shown a much larger proportionate increase in cost and tax collections than did the government of cities. It is stated that for 361 counties, distributed among 35 states, and regarded as fairly typical, the principal sources of revenue increased 127 per cent from 1913 to 1922; that is, for every hundred dollars of revenue collected in 1913 $227 was collected in 1922. And that is not all of it. The total indebtedness of these same 361 counties increased 105 per cent in the same period; that is, for every hundred dollars of debt in 1913 there had $235 of indebtedness in 1922. Statistics were not available dealing with cities and towns of less than 30,000 population; nor with townships, school districts, drainage districts, irrigation districts, road districts, and other subdivisions which exercised the power to raise revenues and incur debts. It is well known, however, that substantially similar increases have affected all these taxing subdivisions.

The figures of both the Treasury and the Census Bureau, in short, make it perfectly plain that whereas the cost of the Federal government is being steadily reduced, the cost of local governments is being just as steadily increased year by year. In nearly all of the states the cost of state and local governments increased from 1913 to 1922. The Treasury made up statistics on this point for one group of 10 states—Arizona, Connecticut, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington, and Wisconsin. For this representative group it is shown that while Federal taxes paid by these 10 states declined from a billion dollars in 1920 to $650,000,000 in 1922, their state and local taxes rose from $728,000,000 to $905,000,000 in the same period. In another tabulation, covering 28 states, which was the entire number for which the statistics were available, it was shown that from 1919 to 1921 there were increases in local taxes in 23 states and reductions in only five. In spite of the enormous burden of pay for the war and the interest on the war debt, state and local taxes in 1922 represented 60 per cent of all taxes paid.

Great War Debt. And that was only a mild beginning of our financial transactions in war. For every dollar we loaned to our Allies, we spent about three more on our own account. In a little more than three years, between the day war was declared and peace was signed, we spent twice as much money as the Public Treasury has had been spent by the National Government in all of its previous history. I am not going to talk to you today about whether the money was all wisely spent. Whether it was or not, the results were worth all it cost, and a good deal more. What I propose to present to you now is some consideration of the fact that the obligations we had to face at the end of the big and very practical reality that these obligations must be paid, that these obligations must be paid, that these obligations must be paid. I said a moment ago that we spent roundly $10,000,000,000 on the World War. How many of us ever stopped to think that that was rather more than the total wealth of the Nation at the time of the Civil War. We paid out of our current taxes, while the war was going on, more than 25 per cent of its cost; that is, as much as the entire national wealth so late as the year 1870. At the beginning of August, 1919, the public debt reached the highest point in its history, $27,500,000,000. That was just about ten times the amount of the national debt at the close of the Civil War.

We are still too close to the events of the Great War to be able to realize the enormous burdens placed on our country. Quite aside from the large overplus of public finance which it necessitated, private finance began in 1914 to make special arrangements for financing the huge foreign trade that resulted from Europe's extraordinary demands. Long before we were in the war our financial machinery had been compelled to shoulder the financing of an enormously exaggerated export trade to the warring powers. For a time Europe withdrew gold from us in great quantities, but presently it returned in yet greater quantities, and to the European countries the difficult problem of maintaining the exchange and supporting the gold standard. Costs of everything rose to an artificially high basis, and in every direction expenditure was stimulated.

Altogether, the war was not only the greatest horror the world has ever known, but the greatest orgy of it is fair to consider what our income taxes would be if we lived in some of the other debt-burdened countries of the world. A married citizen of the United States, with two children and an income of $5,000, paid $98 tax on that income in 1922. If he had been a citizen of Canada he would have paid $156. If the German tax rate had been applied to his income, it would have cost him $1,128.32. If he had been a Frenchman the French rate would have required him to pay $36, and if he had been a British citizen, instead of giving up the $68 which he paid to Uncle Sam, he would have drawn his check for $320.76. The same man, with an income of $10,000, would have paid $456 income tax in the United States and $1,128.32 in England.

The great burden of the war was, of course, imposed on the national government. The Department of the Treasury stated that in 1917 the Federal Government's revenues were $1,044,000,000; in 1918 they were $3,925,000,000; in 1919 they were $4,103,000,000; in 1920 they were $5,737,000,000; and in 1921 they were $4,902,000,000. For 1922 the total dropped to $3,555,000,000, and for 1923 it is estimated at $3,763,000,000. Assuming continuation of the present basis of Federal taxation, the receipts for 1924 are calculated at $3,538,000,000, and for 1925 at $3,486,000,000.

Not all of this revenue is raised by direct taxation. The Treasury estimates indicate that in 1923 only $2,925,000,000 and in 1924 $2,850,000,000 will be produced by direct taxation; the remainder will come from various miscellaneous receipts of the government. You will, I am sure, be interested in the Treasury's statement that whereas in 1914 the per capita cost to all the people of the Federal government was $3.07, that in 1918 it reached $36.84 and in 1919 $37.91. It might reasonably have been presumed that with the war now long past taxes would have begun to fall off, but the statistics show the taxes for the fiscal year 1920 rose to $83.78 per capita, which was the peak of the war burden. Even for 1921 they only fell to $45.22. But in 1922 they will be $29.29 or considerably less than half as much as in 1920. Figures, especially the figures which represent such an authority as the Treasury Department, are conclusive arguments. These figures show that for two years after the war ended Federal taxes continued much higher than at the height of the struggle. They show that in the first two years of peace the cost of government was still continuing above the 1918 level, but that since the high point of 1920 they have been reduced more than one-half. It is a record of business administration to which the party now in control of the administration feels justified in referring with no small measure of satisfaction.

I have observed that the cost of the war to our government was around $40,000,000,000. After paying a generous share, about 25 per cent, from current revenues collected while the war was in progress, we still had to borrow enormously. At its highest point, on August 31, 1919, the national debt was $26,500,000,000. Now in control of the party, I would like to tell you that from that date, August 31, 1919, to June 30, 1923, we have reduced it to $2,400,000,000—a reduction of considerably more than a billion dollars a year. Moreover, we are now working under a program which involves extinguishing a half billion of the debt each year. No other country in the world has been able to make such a record.

In addition to all this, we have within the past year settled the British war debt to our government, a record which the British government will make to our Treasury will correspondingly relieve the burden upon American taxpayers, but the more important fact, in a time of widespread uncertainty and misgiving throughout the world of business everywhere, that these two great governments could get together and arrange such a settlement has been one of the most reassuring events since the armistice.

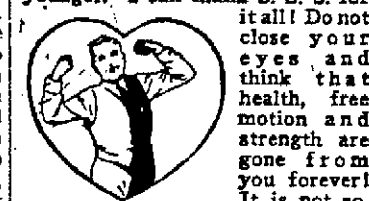

Cancellation Impossible. There had been too much talk of possible cancellations or repudiations of the war debt. Such a program would have wrecked the entire structure of business faith and of confidence in the obligations of governments throughout the world. There was need, pressing and urgent need, for such a sign of confidence, assurance, and faith in the future as this settlement furnished. When the British and American governments united in this pledge that their obligations would be met to the last shilling and the last dollar, there was renewed financial confidence in the world. I undertake to say that no event since the conclusion of hostilities has contributed so much to putting the world back on its way to stabilization, to confidence in its government, and to the established conviction that our social institutions are set secure.

No consideration of public finances can omit the fact that the single item of interest on the public debt exceeds $1,000,000,000 annually. For the fiscal year 1923, this item will be $1,100,000,000. Beyond this we will reduce the public debt this year by $350,000,000, and next year by approximately $500,000,000. That is over 35 per cent of the national revenue will this year go to paying interest or extinguishing the principal of the public debt.

I have not been able to gather conclusive statistics as to the accomplishments of states, cities and counties, to compare with this showing of the Federal government. But with some general knowledge of the fiscal positions of states and cities in general, I feel quite safe in proffering my congratulations to any state, any city, any foreign country, which has made better showing in the matter of reducing its public debt within the period since the war. I most earnestly regret that all have not been able to make a similar showing. On this latter point I wish to say a word further. Taxation decidedly is a local as well as a national question. Prior to the war Federal taxation was an unimportant item; so small that, in 1917 state and local taxes, in a group of 10 representative states, in all parts of the country, constituted 73 per cent of the entire tax burden.

The Federal tax was indirect and unfair. Then came the enormous cost of the war, which the Federal Government had to bear, and in 1918 the state and local taxes constituted only 42 per cent of the entire tax burden. In 1919 they represented 44 per cent of the whole; in 1920, 41 per cent. But in 1922, the last year for which figures are available, state and local taxes were again in excess and represented 60 per cent of the entire tax burden. The states represented in this calculation are Arizona, Connecticut, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington, and Wisconsin.

The Spending Habit. The world's governments, its quasi-public corporations, its people, acquired the spending habit during the war to an extent not merely unprecedented, but absolutely alarming. There is but one way for the community finally to get back on its feet, and that is to go seriously about paying its debts and reducing its expenditures. That is what the world must face. The greatest and richest government must face it, and so must the humblest citizen. No habit is so easy to form, none so hard to break, as that of reckless spending. And on the other side, none is more certain to contribute to security and happiness, than the habit of thrift, of savings, of careful management in all business concerns, of balanced budgets and living within incomes. If I could urge upon the American people a single rule applicable to every one of them as individuals and to every political or corporate unit, it would be to learn to spend somewhat less than your income all the time. If you have debts, reduce them as rapidly as you can; if you are one of the fortunate few who have no debts, make it a rule to save something every year. Keep your eye everlastingly on those who administer your governmental units for you: your town, your county, your state, your national government. Make them understand that you are applying the rule of thrift and savings in your personal affairs, and require them to apply it in their management of your public affairs. If they fail, find other public servants who will succeed. If they succeed, give them such encouragement and inspiration for their efforts.

Perhaps the budget system would not accomplish so much for taxing and spending divisions smaller than the state, but a resolute commitment to strike at all extravagance and expend public funds as one would expend his personal and business affairs will accomplish wonders. It is largely unmindfulness that plies up the burden. Able and honorable men often press for a Federal expenditure to be made in their own community or in other ways helpful to their own interests which they would strongly oppose if they were not directly concerned. This is true of Federal appropriation as well as municipal, county and state expenditure, and I know of no remedy unless public officials are brought to understand the menace in excessive tax burdens and indebtedness, beyond extinguishment except by drastic action, and resolve to employ judicious business methods in government everywhere, and resist the assault of the spenders.

It is too early to know whether there is a reprieve of ancient times with which appropriately to parallel our own. We know of their rise and fall, and we may learn the lessons in their failures. A simple living, thrifty people, with simple, honest, just government never failed to grow in influence and power. The coming of extravagance and prodigality in private life, and wastefulness and excesses in public life ever proclaimed the failures which history has recorded.

I would not urge the stingy, skimping, hoarding life of individuals, or an inadequate program of government. The latter must always rise to deliberate public demand. But private life and public practices are inseparably associated.

I would have our government adequate in every locality and in every activity, and our public servant will demand it and secure it, and require no more, if we may have the simple and thrifty life which makes the beautiful nation.

To Go On Securely. These reflections, my countrymen, are not conceived in doubt or pessimism. We have so nobly begun, we are so boundless in resources, we have wrought so nobly in our short national existence, that I wish these United States to go on securely. I would like developing danger noted and appraised and intelligently and patriotically guarded against. A nation of inconsiderate spenders is never secure. We wish our United States everlastingly secure.

War brought us the lesson that we had not been so American in spirit as we had honestly pretended. Some of our adopted citizenship were the habitations of America, but were not consecrated in soul. Some to whom we have given all the advantages of American citizenship would destroy the very institutions under which they have accepted our hospitality. Hence our commitment to the necessary Americanization which we too long neglected. The American Legion, baptized anew in the supreme test on foreign battle fields, is playing its splendid part. Those who have war's burdens at home have joined, and all America must fully participate. It is not enough to enlist the sincere allegiance of those who come to accept our citizenship; we must make sure for ourselves, for all of us, that we cling to the fundamentals, to the practices which enabled us to build so successfully, and avoid the errors which tend to impair our vigor and becloud our future.

GOOD LOOKS GOOD HEALTH

WERNER'S SALTS. AMBITION BRAND—that's the answer. Some of you ladies who read this may have complexion disfigured by liver spots, blemishes and discolorations. If this is the case, worry about it and don't use face lotions. Just go at once to Werner's, and get a large bottle of AMBITION BRAND. It will clear your complexion by helping to drive from your system the poisonous uric acid that is affecting your liver, stomach and kidneys. A poor, rough, mottled skin isn't due to the sun or weather, but to an upset condition of the uric acid usually causes. Go to the root of the trouble. Destroy that uric acid and your good looks and health will return.

WERNER'S SALTS. AMBITION BRAND is a wonderful preparation for indigestion, biliousness, constipation, headache, rheumatism, malaria, nervousness, kidney troubles—when caused by uric acid poison. Remember WERNER'S SALTS. AMBITION BRAND is guaranteed by WERNER'S BROS., and dealers everywhere.

It is pleasant to take, acts quickly and you can get your money back on the first bottle purchased if dissatisfied. Advertisement.

Under the budget plan we were able to reverse the policy and awaken a spirit of economy and efficiency in the public service. We not only insisted that requests for appropriations should stand the minutest inquiry, but after reduced appropriations were granted, we insisted on expending less than the appropriations. There was no proposal to diminish government activities required by law or demanded by public need, but there was first the commitment to efficiency and then commendable strife for economy.

We effected the inescapable and very costly impression that government departments must expend all their appropriations, that no available cash should return to the Treasury. And we sought to inspire as well as exact, in the practices of economy.

Saving Can Be Made. One illustration will not be amiss. On June 8, 1921, before the budget was in operation, word came to me that the business head of one of our institutions, far from Washington, was puzzling how to expend $10,000 which he had in excess of actual needs. Ordinarily such a matter would never reach the Chief Executive. But this one did, and I wired a warning, and followed it with a letter reciting the need of retrenchment everywhere, and expressed the hope that every government official with spending authority would in reducing the government outlay. The appeal was effective, and this one government agent not only saved most of his available $10,000 for that fiscal year, but in 1922 he saved $81,000 more. He proved what could be done, and we are seeking to do it everywhere.

Do not imagine it has all been easy. It is very popular to expend, and there are ruffled feelings in every case of denial. But there is gratifying results in firm resolution and the consistent application of business methods.

The Budget Director is the agent of the President, and he speaks on the authority of the government's Chief Executive. One day last winter the director came to me in great anxiety, telling me that a department chief would not sanction an $8,000,000 cut in his estimates. At that time we were seeking to prevent a threatened excess of expenditures over receipts amounting to $800,000,000 for the next fiscal year.

I sent for the department head, and he was still insistent in his opposition to the reduced estimates. I called for a conference of the department experts and the budget experts, and told them that if they could not agree, I would decide. They conferred, and instead of returning to me for decision, the estimate was cut more than $12,000,000. The point is that we have introduced business methods in government, and instead of operating blindly and to suit individual departments which had never visualized the government as a whole, and felt no concern about the raising of funds, we are scrutinizing, justifying, co-ordinating, and not only halting mounting cost, but making long strides in reducing the cost of government activities.

Perhaps the budget system would not accomplish so much for taxing and spending divisions smaller than the state, but a resolute commitment to strike at all extravagance and expend public funds as one would expend his personal and business affairs will accomplish wonders. It is largely unmindfulness that plies up the burden. Able and honorable men often press for a Federal

Lost $1000; Will Not Take It Back

William Anderson, 1013 Third St., Portsmouth, employed at the N. & W. shops lost the above amount yesterday. He said this is how I lost it. I went to the Free Minster Show on Campbell Ave. near Jackson St., and saw a woman offer free doses of World's Tonic.

The moment he swallowed World's Tonic he lost the thousand dollars for within an hour after he arrived at his home the monster parasite that had made his life miserable passed from him. Speaking of his experience he says: "Yes I lost the thousand dollars but I would not take that amount or ten times that much to have the horrible thing inside of me again sucking my life away. I will pay it if I thought, with money and gladly and without a word of argument if I ever do fail to produce the results I claim."

World's Tonic is sold by Wuerstler's Pharmacy and Stewart's Drug Store and all good drug stores at one dollar per bottle. It is also being demonstrated at the free minster, Campbell Avenue near Jackson street each evening.—Advertisement.

Cuticura Heals Itching Burning Eczema On Head

"When I was about two years of age I broke out with eczema. First it started in small spots and then ran together until my head was covered with sores. There were a few spots on my face. It caused great discomfort and loss of sleep. The itching and burning were something awful, causing me to be very cross."

My parents decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After the first treatment there was immediate relief, and before they had finished one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed. (Signed) George Bolle, DuPont, Illinois.

Local Kiwanians Make Big Hit At Tri-City Meeting In Chillicothe

Favored with wonderful weather, with the settings ideal and the big crowd happy and enthusiastic, the Tri-city meet of Kiwanians held at the Ross County Country Club, Tuesday afternoon and night, was a distinct success and reflected much credit on the Chillicothe Kiwanians who acted as hosts. The local club was represented by about thirty members, several of whom were accompanied by their families. Incidentally, Portsmouth played an important part in the festivities, furnishing all of the entertainment on the impromptu program, outside of the jollity, for the Chillicotheans had president of the local club, held up that end of the program with much credit, making one of the best speeches of the evening.

It is estimated that fully five hundred people were in attendance, and a hopper bunch of folk never assembled together. It was one round of jollity, for the Chillicotheans had prepared in advance for the affair and not a single thing had been overlooked on the bill of fare. The only regrettable thing was the fact that not more Portsmouth Kiwanians were present. It had been planned for at least forty of them to make the trip, but at the last moment conditions over which they had no control prevented several from attending. However, those who were present from here made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers and felt mighty proud when President Ed. Wenis, who had charge of the program, tossed verbal bouquets one after the other at the Portsmouth crowd. While Portsmouth sent the largest delegation, representatives were there from the clubs at Lancaster and Athens, and a fine delegation of business men from Hillsboro, who no doubt caught the Kiwanian spirit and became so incited that a club will be formed there shortly.

President And Mrs. Harding Get Enthusiastic Reception; Shake Hands With Triplets

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding brought to Utah to-day an exposition of the views of the Administration on the tax question and received in return renewed faith in the future of the Republic through the welcome accorded him in Ogden, Salt Lake City and a half dozen small towns.

Making the sixth prepared address of his Western trip, the Chief Executive, in the Mormon Tabernacle last night discussed taxation.

After having been greeted by a large proportion of the population of Ogden on his arrival there this morning and after having been accorded an enthusiastic reception in every town and through the country as he motored toward Salt Lake, Mr. Harding, speaking from the steps of the city hall at Bountiful, a little town near this city, declared that "the greatest joy, the finest compensation and the greatest inspiration which can come to the incumbent of the President's office are found in getting away from the office at Washington and meeting people just as I am meeting you."

"It is a joy to those in authority to know that there is so much happiness and so much confidence in the future of our country," he added. "I have had my own faith renewed to-day and I am grateful for the opportunity of greeting you as well as having you offer your greetings to us."

The welcome given the President and Mrs. Harding also, for at every stop during the motor trip of 40 miles from Ogden to Salt Lake City she was almost buried under flowers—was non-partisan. When Mr. Harding stepped off his train at Ogden he was greeted by Senator Smoot, a Republican, and by Senator King, a Democrat.

The Reception Committee also included Governor Mabey, a Republican, who, with Mrs. Mabey, rode in the Presidential car and pointed out the points of interest along the route which led through a farming section made fruitful by irrigation. Much of the land is used for fruit growing and the prospect of good crops was commented upon by the President in one of his brief talks.

Children standing along the streets and roads, waving flags and sometimes singing patriotic airs, played a large part in the welcome.

While in Ogden the President and Mrs. Harding shook hands with a set of triplets and twins, all members of one family. The children were pointed out to them while the Presidential car was at a standstill in the park there.

"Hold them up; let me shake hands with them," immediately demanded the President, while Mrs. Harding added: "Indeed, yes, by all means. I have never had the pleasure of shaking hands with triplets."

Arriving in Salt Lake about noon the President was greeted by school children in Liberty Park, after a tour of the business district, and then went to a hotel, where he received approximately 3,000 persons at a public reception.

The Chief Executive got the first full afternoon of recreation of the trip here to-day. Immediately after luncheon he went out to the Salt Lake Country Club for a game of golf, remaining there until dinner time.

On leaving last night after the tabernacle address, the Presidential party will travel into Southern Utah to spend to-morrow in Zion Park, the first of the National parks to be visited by the President during his Western trip. To-morrow evening members of the party again will board the train and turn northward to spend Thursday in Idaho, with stops to be made at Pocatello and Idaho Falls.

Drys To Fight Any Party Having Wet Plank In Platform

WESTERVILLE, O., June 27.—The anti-saloon league of America will serve notice of concerted attack against any political party that puts an anti-prohibition plank in its platform, national officials of the organization declared here Tuesday. They are attending a meeting of state superintendents of the league, from virtually every state in the union.

League officers say they would not insist that the political parties put prohibition enforcement into their platforms, but that they would insist no party include an anti-prohibition plank.

The conference deliberations, it was announced, have special reference to the political campaign of 1924, for presidential and congress nominations.

Dr. P. A. Baker, Westerville, general superintendent of the league; Dr. Howard H. Russell, Westerville, its founder; Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, Westerville, general manager of league publications, and Wayne B. Wheeler, Washington, general counsel and legislative superintendent, are in attendance at the meeting.

It was announced that the League will not "try to get anything done" in New York during the coming session of the assembly, except to obtain the passage of a law giving municipalities the right to pass ordinances prohibiting the liquor traffic and providing municipal enforcement.

A fight will be made, however, it was declared, to elect an assembly next time which will be favorable to re-enactment of a state enforcement code and "a governor who will sign, support and enforce that measure."

Orville S. Poland, attorney for the New York league, is attending the conference, but William H. Anderson, superintendent, Poland said, was too ill to come.

Mr. Poland today sent the following telegram to George K. Morris, secretary of the republican state headquarters, New York city:

"A large number of the voters of New York state who are dry and also are republicans desire to know the attitude of the leadership of the party as represented in the state committee toward President Harding's declaration for the enforcement of prohibition and the co-operation therein by the state. Does the republican leadership in New York endorse the declaration of the president without qualification or does it continue in its subservience to the wet minority of the party and out of harmony with its national leadership as well as in de facto alliance with Tammany?"

Wellston "Excited" Over Oil Rumor

WELLSTON, June 27.—There was some excitement in the city today when it was rumored that oil had been struck on the Clyde Scott farm in the West end of the city just over the knob. True, oil was struck, a few gallons, good black oil, but in a pocket, as was gas, at about 2,250 feet. The drill will go on down to at least 2,700 feet if the golden fluid or gas in paying quantities is not struck before. The Ohio Fuel Gas Company is putting down the well. The site of the well is very high up in the West limits of the city.

Market News

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 27.—Prices continued to display a reactionary tendency at the opening of today's market although slight improvement was shown by a few of the usual leaders, notably Baldwin, Studebaker, and American Smelting. Selling pressure was again exerted against the independent steels, Motors, sugars, copers and oils. Ralls lost more ground in further reflection of the expected demands for wage increases by two of the big brotherhoods.

New low records were registered by Northern Pacific, Norfolk and Western, American Sugar, U. S. Rubber, International Paper and Atlantic Gulf and West Indies common and preferred, the losses ranging from fractions to 2 points. Baldwin extended its gain to 1 1/2 and Studebaker to a point. Duffon Chemical, White Motors and Oils Elevator also were strong. Foreign exchanges opened slightly lower.

Weakness of the principal rail shares, many of which dropped 1 to 3 points to new low figures for the year, had an adverse influence elsewhere, the entire list sagging after a temporary show of strength in the equipments, motors and chemicals. The sharp decline sent the prices of a score or more stocks to new minimum figures, with the rails as a group making the worst showing.

American Agricultural Chemical preferred, Union Pacific, Matheson Alkali, Atchafalaya, Chicago and Northwestern, Chesapeake and Ohio, Corn Products and South Porto Rico Sugar registered losses of 2 to 4 points.

Call money opened at 5 1/2 per cent. Weakness of the railroad shares in the face of unusually favorable May earnings reports was the disturbing feature of today's stock market. It is apparently were sold in expectation of increased wage demands by the big four brotherhoods. Industrials yielded in sympathy. Commission houses selling of weak marginal accounts was an important factor. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

The closing was heavy.

with cutting and threshing. Besides only moderate hedging sales were noted in the first part of the day. Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures to 1/4c lower, with September 1.02 1/2 to 1.02 3/4 and Dec. 1.03 1/2 to 1.03 3/4 were followed by a slight general setback and they by a rise to well above yesterday's finish.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat. After opening unchanged to 1/4c lower, Sept. 79@79 1/2, the corn market descended a little more and then rallied to about yesterday's final figures.

The close was unsettled at 1/2 to 1 1/2 net decline, Sept. 1.01 1/2@1.01 3/4, Oct. 1.02 1/2@1.02 3/4, Nov. 1.03 1/2@1.03 3/4. Oats started at 1/4 decline to a like advance, Sept. 37 1/2 to 37 3/4 and kept within a narrow range.

Provisions were weak in line with hog values. The close was easy at 1/2 to 1 1/2 net decline with Sept. at 78 1/2@78 3/4 to 78 1/2.

WEEKLY REVIEW
NEW YORK, June 27.—Hardware Age in its weekly review of the hardware market will say tomorrow:
"The price situation throughout the country seems to be rapidly nearing a condition of stabilization. Price advances during the past few days have been few and far between and have for the most part involved only minor lines. Price reductions while not conspicuous, are nevertheless in evidence. The opinion is growing in trading circles that the market for the balance of the year will be of a far easier nature than the one experienced during the first six months."

"Shortages in a number of seasonal items are still reported from all sections of the country. Reports would seem to indicate that retail stocks at the present time are not particularly heavy although they are, in the main,

Case Settled; Dismissed

Trial of the damage suit of Robert Rockwell, a minor, by Mary Rockwell, 203 Offshore street, next friend, against Dr. D. A. Berndt for alleged malpractice, which started before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court early Tuesday, was suddenly terminated Wednesday forenoon when a settlement was effected and the case was dismissed. The compromise came at the end of a lengthy conference between the attorneys on both sides and long distance telephone conversations with representatives of an indemnity insurance company in another city. It was stated that under the terms of settlement the plaintiff will receive the sum of $850, which will be paid by the insurance company together with the costs.

The Rockwell boy, who is 15 years old, sustained two fractures of his jaw in a fall from an automobile while on his way to a Sunday school picnic on July 14, 1921, and it was claimed that Dr. Berndt who was called to attend him, neglected to use ordinary skill, care and attention in setting the broken bones and that as a result his jaw was left crooked and that it became necessary for him to submit to a second operation. Suit was brought demanding $5,000 damages in addition to $700.30 expenses, incurred by the second operation.

The defendant denied all acts of negligence complained of and asserted that the two fractures were properly set and declared that the crooked jaw was due solely to the youth displacing the bones by his own acts after they had been adjusted and before they united.

Attorneys Bannan and Bannan for plaintiff and Attorneys Miller and Seurl and A. Z. Dink for the defense.

Grizell-Basham Case On Trial

The suit of Harry R. Grizell, North Moreland, who is demanding $25,000 damages from William Earl Basham, prominent young man of Lakeside, New Boston, for alleged alienation of the affections of his wife, Sarah Grizell, started before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court shortly before the noon hour Wednesday.

The jury which is hearing the case is composed of these women and men: G. W. Menzies, J. F. Crabtree, Dennis Jewett, William Tutman, Roy Carmichael, Henry Emmert, Fred Gabler, Jessie Rottinghaus, Lizzie Baker, J. C. Daniel, Ord Thompson and John Q. Adams.

On being called to the witness stand Grizell said that he married his wife, Sarah Grizell in Grayson, Ky., in 1899, and that they have eight children, ranging in age from 8 to 22 years. He asserted they lived happily together until June, 1920, when he claimed Basham came to their home and persuaded her to associate with him, take extended automobile rides and trips with him and accused the defendant of unlawfully and wickedly debauching her. He further claimed that Basham induced his wife to abandon him and that as a result his happiness was destroyed and his home was broken up.

The defense made the claim that no acts of the defendant alienated the affections of Mrs. Grizell from her husband and insisted it was through the woman's inducements Basham did the acts complained of.

Quite an array of witnesses from North Moreland and New Boston were present in court to testify in the case.

Attorneys R. F. Kimble and E. G. Miller for plaintiff and Attorneys Miller and Seurl for Basham.

Malott Seeks Divorce

Frank Malott, New Boston, charges neglect and infidelity in his suit for divorce and custody of their two minor children in an action instituted in Common Pleas court Wednesday.

In his petition filed through Attorneys Miller and Seurl, the plaintiff complains that the defendant neglects him, their children and home for the association of another man, besides, he declares, she has called him vile and vulgar names, stated that she hated him and requested him to leave her. Malott further complains while he was away at work the wife, without his knowledge and consent, gave a fiancé at their home at which her male friends were entertained, greatly to his humiliation and anguish of mind.

Mrs. Schroeder Seeks Divorce

Alleging cruelty and declaring that he frequently assaulted her, the last time on June 20, last, when she claims, he knocked her unconscious for two hours, Sue Schroeder, 1014 Ninth street, seeks divorce and all money with custody of their three minor children, in an action instituted in common pleas court Tuesday against Stanley Schroeder, former city traffic officer, now under suspension, whom she married in February, 1914.

The wife sued through Attorney Harry Ball and she secured a temporary injunction restraining the defendant from molesting or coming about her home.

In her petition, the plaintiff wife says that Schroeder was frequently drunk, and that, at an unseemly hour of the night, he ran her out of the house with a revolver.

She filed suit two years ago, the plaintiff wife recites in her petition, but, on the promise of the plaintiff to mend his ways, she returned to him and withdrew the petition.

Soon after, the wife alleges, he resumed abuse. Schroeder has been frequently drunk since his release from the police force his wife declares.

The Schroeders have three children, Charles, 9; Harold, 7, and Billie, 5.

Women Fight; One Stabbed

(Special to Times)
VANCEBURG, Ky., June 27.—A serious stabbing affray last night with two women as the principals has stirred this village as it may end in a fatality.

Mrs. Zack Kenard was stabbed in the left arm and shoulder and over the heart by Miss Rose Johnson, who was arrested this morning and lodged in jail. She faces a charge of cutting with intent to kill.

Dr. H. M. Bertram, who was called and dressed Mrs. Kenard's wounds found the one near the heart to be serious as the knife blade penetrated deeply. The wounds in the arm and shoulder are not considered dangerous.

The cutting affray took place in the East End of the village last night at 9:30 when the two women met. Mrs. Kenard accused Miss Johnson of being friends with her husband and this led to an altercation, which did not end until Mrs. Kenard was stabbed three times by Miss Johnson.

Both are well known here.

G. A. R. Auxiliaries To Elect

COLUMBUS, O., June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Women's auxiliary organizations of the Grand Army of the Republic will nominate and elect officers and present a tag to local girl scouts today.

Members of the Grand Army of the Republic and other visitors here for the annual state encampment will hold a reception tonight.

Music will be presented today by several of the women's auxiliaries.

There will be a parade of the G. A. R. veterans tomorrow afternoon, but it has not been decided whether they will march or be driven in autos.

Along with a pageant depicting the life of the old period last night, was held an old-fashioned dance. Old hand fiddlers beat out the "jazz" times of the sixties, while the dancers executed the quadrille, the Virginia reel, the polka and French Four, names of dances almost forgotten to day. Here and there could be seen a blue clad veteran escorting a young miss wearing a demure hoop-skirt of Civil War days and endeavoring to demonstrate movements of the time honored steps, but usually with scant success.

Time's defeat of the stalwarts of the sixties was brought home when, for the first time, the veterans reviewed the encampment parade instead of marching in it.

That preceded the big event of the day—the unveiling of the peace memorial, which represented 15 years of intensive effort on the part of the Women's Relief Corps, and a half century of aspirations. Mrs. Mattie E. Lear, of Columbus, is the only living survivor of the committee appointed in 1908 to raise $10,000 nec-

"BRASS" CHAS. G. NORRIS' STARTLING STORY OF MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE NOW SHOWN AT THE COLUMBIA IS CONCEDED TO BE ONE OF THE BEST PICTURES OF THE SEASON. HUNDREDS HAVE SEEN IT DURING THE PAST TWO DAYS AND THOUSANDS WILL SEE IT BEFORE THE WEEK'S ENGAGEMENT IS OVER.

Marriage, as practiced nowadays by the cynical and careless, gets an awful body blow in "Brass," a powerful Warner Brothers classic of the screen adapted from the novel of Charles G. Norris, which opened Monday at the Columbia theatre, for a week's run with Monte Blue and Marie Prevost in the featured roles.

Not only the silliness of people going into marriage without knowing each other well, but their readiness to exit and re-enter for the divorce court is shown, in a way unforgettable indeed. It must not be supposed that there is any sober preaching in the picture; far from it, "Brass" tells a corking good story, a story that moves every minute of the time it is projected on the screen, and that delighted the big audience that beheld it. Absorbing and few pictures can be, with a plot crammed with action, "Brass" should be seen by everybody in need of genuine enjoyment.

Nearly everybody knows the story, from the popularity it enjoyed as a best seller. Philip and Marjorie Baldwin, young and married, suddenly wake up to find themselves utter strangers. A mother-in-law partially accounts for their distance, but especially does Marjorie's weakness for cabarets and good times. After a quarrel she leaves him forever and Philip picks out the scattered threads of his life as best he can. Two women come into his life, the while Marjorie divorces him and remarries. The ending is left up to us in masterly fashion, with thrilling climaxes that surprise and fascinate. Monte Blue never acted better than he did here, giving a superb interpretation of the likeable puzzled Philip. Praise is also due the able supporting cast which includes Marie Prevost, Harry Myers, Irene Rich, Helen Ferguson, Frank Brown, Edward Johnson, Margaret Seddon, Cyril Chadwick and Pat O'Malley. The splendid direction is by Sidney Franklin, and the production was made by Harry Taft.

Royal Neighbors Hold District Convention
Here; Mrs. Laura Walker Elected President

Ironton camp will entertain the fall convention of District 17 Royal Daughters of America in October, in accordance with the invitation accepted at the convention session yesterday afternoon and evening, held in the K. of P. hall with Delta Camp, Royal Neighbors as hosts.

Officers for that convention were chosen as follows: District President, Laura Walker, Portsmouth; present Oracle of Delta Camp; District Vice President, Jessie Rapstock, Chillicothe; Recorder and Receiver, Gussie Butler, Ironton; Chancellor, Bertha Moore, Portsmouth; Past Oracle, Louise Wente, Sciotoville; Inner Sentinel, Edith Reider, Chillicothe; Outer Sentinel, Ethel Thompson, Chillicothe; Marshall, Alta Gowdy, Portsmouth; Assistant Marshall, Margaret Duckett, Portsmouth.

More than 100 delegates attended the convention. Guests were present from Ironton and Chillicothe. The afternoon session was given over to routine business, election of officers for the next meeting and selection of a place for the fall session. After the Ironton meeting sessions will be held once a year.

Mrs. Laura Walker, as Oracle of the local camp, presided at the evening session. After the impressive flag ceremony, a class of twenty-two candidates was initiated by the Delta team. Mrs. Walker is leader of the degree team. The class was a group of local women who had been obligated at recent meetings and included the following:

Mrs. Nellie Mitchell, Miss Merrill Darragh, Miss Lyda Everman, Mrs. Margaret Keener, Mrs. Nona Pennington, Miss Minnie Jones, Mrs. Mary Lewis, Mrs. Mary Beckman, Mrs. Agnes Bouts, Mrs. Vergie Wente, Miss Marie Bertram, Mrs. Blanche McClung, Mrs. John D. Malison, Mrs. Merle Burton, Miss Elizabeth Burton, Mrs. Amanda Cooper, Mrs. Eva Joseph, Mrs. Ren Burkhardt, Mrs. Mary Sword, Mrs.

Ruth Monk, Mrs. Mary Kessinger and Mrs. Margaret Pugh.

The remainder of the evening session was spent in routine business. After the meeting refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and a social time was enjoyed.

Guests for the evening were delegates and visitors from Chillicothe: Jessie Rapstock, Clara Bixler, Anna Wormset, Eliza Kelley, Lena Cox, Ethel Thompson, Zona Adler, Edith Reider, Bertha Proehl, Mabel Proehl, Jennie Urigh and Bertha Schrader; and delegates from Ironton: Mrs. G. W. Waddel, Mrs. J. A. Butler, Anna

Harrison, Mrs. Elmer Caldwell, Sarah Hall, Cedalia Hamilton and Elva Lynd.

The reception committee who met the delegates and visitors was composed of Mrs. Lela Hannah, Mrs. Mary Sutton, Mrs. Minnie Bullock, Mrs. Hannah Edgington, Mrs. Grace King and Mrs. Bertha Osborne.

The hall was beautifully decorated in purple and white, the lodge colors and cut flowers and potted plants. The decorations showed the committee had spent considerable time in making the large room as attractive as possible.

and L. C. Peel were appointed to work out a contract with the Portsmouth Street Railway and Light Company, and the owners of the building, Dadds and Lamou, for the purpose of leasing the building.

An advisory board was suggested and a committee of five was appointed to discuss this along with organization and rules. Those appointed on this committee are: Jas. Hannah, L. C. Peel, C. F. Stamm, J. W. Carroll, and Alan Jordan. The members of this committee are to act as chairmen of other regular committees.

Dr. E. C. Jackson, Dr. Joseph Gill, L. F. Lemon, Alan Jordan, and Bernard Sommer were appointed as a grievance committee to take care of all complaints made to the association by members or non-members and to take such complaints, if necessary, to council.

The threefold movement of the waiting station, rest room for women and children and comfort rooms for men and women is a nation wide movement for all cities and towns on familiar highways. In the West End of Portsmouth it would be very convenient for people all over the county visiting this city.

Open Thursday Afternoons

West End Improvement Association Elects Officers; Plans For Waiting Room

The West End Improvement Association, last night organized and elected officers. Dr. E. C. Jackson had been chosen president at a previous meeting, but as he thought he could not devote as much time to the organization as was needed he resigned and nominated G. W. Sheets for that position. Mr. Sheets was elected and stated that he would do his best to keep the members busy. C. H. Whitehouse was elected to succeed A. C. Schapiro as secretary.

Mr. Schapiro has been unable to attend the meetings regularly and for this reason the office of secretary was declared open.

Reports of the membership committee were heard at the meeting, and with much satisfaction. The three teams announced that in the drive during the last few days they had secured seventy members. Two members were added to this number this morning and many more applications are expected. The teams on the drive are as follows: Adam and Joseph Sommer, W. M. Knight and L. C. Peel, and G. W. Sheets and J. W. Carroll. Dues payable semi-annually had been set at $5 per year. It was announced last night that $226.50 had been paid to date. Dr. Jackson moved that the drive for more members and funds be continued.

Further discussion was given to the proposed waiting room and comfort station to be installed in the Massie block, Second and Market and Alloysius Sommer, W. M. Knight

Dempsey Sounds Warning To Sparring Partners; Going To Handle Them Roughly

By JACK DEMPSEY.
Heavyweight Champion of the World.
(Copyright, 1923, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
GREAT FALLS, MONT., June 27.—Just served notice on my sparring partners. It reads like this:
"Get ready, boys, to get yours."
They've been having things rather easy around here—and yet some of them think it's been tough. I've gone along nicely with all of 'em up to now and haven't let loose much of my stuff. Afraid of tearing in too soon and getting to the peak of perfection too soon.

I know myself—know just what is needed to put me in trim. I figured it out when I came here to train for Gibbons that I didn't dare let loose too soon—that I'd have to hold off until the last week or so before I began to show all my stuff.
That time has now arrived. I've got to get some real punching practice. Most of the boys think I have been doing it. They're wrong. I've just been tapping up to this time. Now I'm going to tear loose for a few days and see whether the other fellows are as good as they used to be—and as I think they still are.

Through most of work here up to date I have been doing more punching than real hitting. I didn't want to murder the boys. I needed them for this final week. I hope they've been toughened up by the few days they've had to take so far so that they can stand up through this week.
If they can't—that'll be great. If they can't—well, I suppose I'll have to do all my heavy punching against the big bag. That's good practice, but not within a mile of being so good as socking shifting human targets.

Gibbons Not Worried About Receipts; Glad He Will Meet Dempsey In Big Ring

By TOM GIBBONS.
Challenge for the heavyweight title.
(Copyright, 1923, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
SHELBY, MONT., June 27.—People hereabouts tell me that I will be the lucky one to make a dollar out of the fight. I don't care. I'm an amateur. I'm not here to make money. I'm here to win the championship. The receipts, I am informed, are not likely to be great enough to give me a chance to cut in on them very heavily, since my corner does not cut for me to share in the proceeds until Jack Dempsey's purse has his guarantee of $500,000. This is the least of my worries, however. I had been getting for a chance at the title for three years and when Eddie Kane was offered that chance we very naturally jumped at it without asking questions.

Win or lose, I will be perfectly satisfied with the fact that I am facing Dempsey in the ring. Once I have done this, I will know definitely and positively for all time whether I have it in me to knock Dempsey over. My ambition will be satisfied and if at the end, there is some money coming to me, all well and good. If not, you will hear no squawk from me.
Eddie Kane feels the same way. We are, perhaps, the only manager and boxer on record going into a championship contest without some assurance of financial reward. With the way of money when he beat Jack Johnson at Havana, but at the time the match was made he had every reason to believe that he would be well rewarded. Johnson himself, got something like $27,500 for beating Jack. Both were definite guarantees.

Eddie and I had nothing at all but the hopes of the promoters that they would have a capacity crowd. Should this occur, and it is possible that it will, my end of the receipts will be considerable. I am gambling, but the same as are those behind the bout and I want to say that all of them are real men, fairly bubbling over with enterprise and honest optimism.
It took real nerve to bring a world's championship fight to a little old town, sign the principals, give one of them the most generous contract a fighter ever received, build an arena, and flood this country with tickets in the comparatively short time of a few months. These men, however, had a vision, and they made it come true.
They wanted the fight for Shelby, Montana, and they got it here. Further more, I don't think any of them actually regret their bargain, even though it begins to look as though matters will not pan out as expected. I think all of them are proud of their achievement, ridiculed so thoroughly in the east and the question of making money on it has been pushed to the background by this pride.

As for myself, I can only say they have my best wishes. I have no distaste for money, naturally, and would be glad to make some out of the fight; yet, I would gladly forfeit whatever might be coming to me if it would help these boys out of a difficulty. They have earned the respect of every red-blooded American and I don't think anyone will deny that the entire country is behind them in spirit, even though it may not show its appreciation at the box office.

"Corpse" Wanted To Know What Hit Him

STURBYVILLE, O., June 27.—An inquest was deferred by Coroner A. Label of Jefferson county today when he discovered that the supposed corpse, Leroy Nance, 40, negro was still alive after he had been pronounced dead by a physician and the body ordered removed to a morgue.
Nance was stabbed with an ice picket, it is said, after he had hit his wife, Ada Nance, 34, over the head with a chair during a domestic quarrel. The pick entered the left breast above the heart.
A crowd gathered and threatened Mrs. Nance. In the excitement, Nance was forgotten until he sat up and inquired what hit him. It developed he was not badly hurt.
After their home was searched and moonshine discovered, charges of possessing liquor were lodged against the Nances.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Poetker entertained with a party at their home, 1827 Eleventh street, Tuesday evening in honor of the thirtieth birthday anniversary of their daughter, Nellie. The evening hours were delightfully occupied with music and games, at the conclusion of which a refreshment course was served, at the large table in the dining room. A large white birthday cake with thirteen pink candles graced the center of the table. Mrs. Poetker was assisted by her sister-in-law, Miss Florence Poetker, in serving the following guests: Jean Colgrove, Katherine Poetker, Margaret Ellen Ford, Fabyelle Mayo, Lucille and Marjoram Eufurth, Louise Poetker, Gertrude Hoerl, Phyllis Sheridan, Bernice Mitchell, Jane Vickory, Louise Deitchel, Essie Hammond, Eugenia Schogover of Cincinnati, and the honor guest.

G. W. Wheeler of Catlettsburg, Ky., who has been visiting his son, J. A. Wheeler, Scioto Trail, left this morning for Hanging Rock where he will spend a week with relatives.

Mrs. J. E. Block and sons, Robert, Maurice, Howard, and Richard, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, who have been visiting her father, Herman Huels, 625 Third street, left this morning for their home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Howland, of Ripley, Ohio, and Mr. Hensley Howland, of Georgetown, who have been visiting their son and uncle, C. M. Howland of Timmonds avenue, returned home this morning.

The Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church will meet Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, with Mrs. W. C. Ferguson of Court street. The meeting place has been changed from the home of Miss Hester Bryan because of the heat. Miss Bryan will entertain later.

Members of the Ladies' Relief Society of the First Evangelical church having birthday anniversaries in April, May or June, and the members of the Calendar Club will give a social and entertainment in the Sunday School room Friday evening, June 29, at 7:30 o'clock. No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken. An invitation to attend is extended to all.

Miss Aurilla Houdshell of Scioto Trail is a guest of Miss Nellie Poetker of Eleventh street.

Lawrence Caproni has returned to his home in Mayville, Ky., after a visit to his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Bierley, of Fifth street.

A jolly crowd of young people enjoyed a picnic outing at Beechwood Heights, near Sciotoville, Monday evening. The time was pleasantly spent with swimming, dancing and music, after which a picnic supper was served. Those composing the party included the Misses Ruth White, Helen Doerr, Imogene White, Mildred Eckfolt, Katherine Emmett, Frances Schroeder, Katherine Walters and Josephine Doerr.

Messrs. Carroll Billian, Lee Priel, Julian Snyder, Frances G. Schaller, Theodore Eck, Clarence Schofield, Joseph Schumack, Edward Schumack, George Schroeder, Lawrence Caproni, of Mayville, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. William Bierley and son Billy.

A merry crowd of people from this city motored to Chillicothe, Sunday, and were joined there by friends from Columbus. The party was composed of Misses Mattie and Mary Clarke, Vivian Daniels, Marjory and Elva Fullwiler, Opal Merritt, Hazel and Sara Clarke, Florence Fullwiler, Elizabeth Spence and Messrs. Charles Davis, Charles Clarke, John Maple, Theodore Dunham, Harold Brown, Philip Warning, Harry Dunham, Dewitt Hartle, James Crayton, William Russell and Ray Kelfarber, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and daughter, Mary Kathleen.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Old Town Church will meet Thursday at 2 p. m., with Mrs. Grant Doll of Nauvoo.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Michael of Talladega, Ala., are here for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. William Rose of 5909 Gallia avenue, Sciotoville.

G. A. R. Heads Score The Klan

COLUMBUS, O., June 27.—(By the Associated Press)—"It behooves men who love their country and its lawful institutions to arouse themselves and fight the Ku Klux Klan, fight it to the death."
This is the challenge hurled by Department Commander Gaylor M. Sultzberger, of the Grand Army of the Republic today at the opening business session of the fifty-ninth annual encampment of the Ohio Department of the G. A. R.

The sentiment was echoed by National Commander in Chief James W. Willett, Des Moines, Ia., who addressed the veterans at the same meeting. He promised to pay his respects to the Klan at the camp fire to be held tonight.

"The Ku Klux Klan fashion is not only a piece of cheap and ill-mannered melodrama, but it is in direct conflict with the honest Americanism that is not ashamed of its patriotism and of the honest humility that never wears a mask over head or heart in the presence of God.

"Let us kill the snake," Commander Willett declared.

Row Is Aired
John Chou, 31 years old, was before the Municipal court Tuesday for alleged assaulting Miss Tera Dials on June 23 last, at the home of her parents at 2910 Walnut street, where he roomed. The hearing disclosed that the girl and the accused became involved in an altercation and that blows were struck by both. After hearing from both sides the court ordered Chou to pay the costs of prosecution and to move away from the Dials home.

LOSING BUSINESS DAILY

That's what every merchant in Portsmouth is doing daily and will continue to do until we have decent roads into the city. Some people will tell you this and some one else "that" about why that paving is delayed, but just start a little private investigation of your own and you may learn why it isn't being done. About the only thing we have gotten for the past year is excuses and promises but the road isn't paved yet and "our detour." Gee—I wish I could hide in our preacher's auto and have him drive over that detour just to see how often he would justifiably forget he was a preacher and if he did forget b-e-l-i-e-v-e M-e I would go to church next Sunday and Monday I would send him a pair of those pure calf black or tan oxfords that we are selling for seven berries—with my compliments.

REAPING THE HARVEST

ALMOST as soon as it is sown America is beginning to reap the fruitage of the seed she has planted in carrying prohibition to an extreme length.
It is the custom of the high seas for all passenger ships to carry liquor; many of them issue to their crews as rations, it being a general practice to include a fixed allowance in sailors' articles. Unmindful of these customs and these rights, the administration has harkened unto the clamor of the extremists and made a regulation that no ship, shall under any circumstances, carry liquor into American ports. In decency, in the community of nations, she might have required that foreign ships place their stock under seal and allow none of it to be dispensed in American waters. That certainly would be going far enough. But, no reason and common decency were not allowed to prevail. A vessel compelled by home conditions to have liquor on sailing for America, was required to destroy it before reaching here.

There is nothing in the argument that America recognizes trafficking in liquor as immoral. There she is only trying to make by her statute other people, over whom she has no control whatsoever, up to her own standards of legal morals, where nineteen-twentieths of the world disagree with her.

Why, if such a rule be accepted there couldn't be any world intercourse. England could say we can carry no corn into her ports because it might be used to make moonshine; France could say to Brazil you can't bring coffee to our waters because it destroys the nerves; all nations could say Ceylon should send no tea, it wrecks more people than whiskey ever did; we couldn't get any opium from China because it makes dope fiends. Thus all the category of products could be run through for there is poison and injury in every one, where its use is abused.

But to the direct result. In the British house of commons, Monday, a member arose and interpolated the ministry as to alleged mistreatment of a ship captain by American officials, professing to be enforcing prohibition regulations. The ministry replied it could take no action until the alleged indignities were presented to it in formal complaint, but that it would certainly be found diligent and strong in maintaining the honor and dignity of British citizens everywhere. Thereupon followed some discussion and the unfolding of the one sentiment of the commons, that Englishmen avoid America until they could be sure of the American government taking a proper attitude towards them.

And that is but the beginning. Be sure there will be more of protest but reprisal that will soon put the shoe on the other foot.

A POINT NOT AT POINT

G OVERNOR DONAHEY has appointed Louis A. Boulay, a civil engineer at Toledo, director of public highways. With the announcement comes the news that quite an array of Democratic leaders are not at all pleased with the selection. We can not see that their sad spirit has any bearing upon the appointment. They wanted a man on the job who was first a Democrat, the Governor a man who was first an engineer.

We prefer the Governor's position and commend his choice if Director Boulay measures up to advance notices. He hasn't mixed up in politics, but he has devoted himself assiduously and earnestly to his profession. With much success apparently, as his services are in constant demand and he has built up quite a reputation for himself, among engineers, though he be unknown to the leaders.

These leaders oftentimes make the mistake of thinking that when a man is elected to office, it is for him to take his orders from them and see everything through their eyes. All wrong. Particularly so with regard to Governor Donahey. Of the hundreds of thousands that voted for him the mass voted for him because his name was on the party ticket and because they had confidence in his pledges that he would give them an administration run on the lines laid down by him. They had no idea of choosing any set of leaders to run the state, last thing they thought about, of a truth.

No; not one person out of ten thousand cares whom Governor Donahey gives the jobs to. They just want him to go about being governor in an old fashioned sort of way.

EVERETT TRUE

BY CONDO

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 27.—"Throwing the bull" is likely to become more than a Broadway conversational diversion. Tex Rickard, prize fight promoter, is now at work on plans to introduce bull fighting to lovers of sport.

He has sent scouts to Spain to sign up a group of the most agile matadors and as soon as he is convinced there will be no legal interference the bull fight will be presented. The site will probably be at the famous Doyle Thelby Acres, in Jersey.

Rickard has no intention of permitting the bloody cruelty of the Spanish arena. The spears are to be blunt and the horses are to be protected from cruel galling so far as is possible. He is said to have the backing of several sportively inclined millionaires.

There is in New York at present on a visit a celebrated matador from Madrid. He is quite a conspicuous figure in the midtown dance places and is adept at the tango. The ladies thrill to his grace and the halo of courage that enshrouds him.

I met him recently and he is vigorous in his defense of the bull-fight. It is his claim the bull suffers little pain and really enjoys the sanguine affray. "After all," he shrugged, "you kill thousands of steers here every day."

Tex Rickard has apparently extricated himself from the scarlet web of scandal in which he was entangled. Very few believed the salacious tales about him and he has the entire confidence of his backers.

He has been a picturesque figure in the sporting world. He clings to the wide hat of the roaring camp days, is extremely taciturn and moves about glumly puffing at a heavy black cigar. He has very few intimates.

The famous old Moquin's cafe on Sixth Avenue is marching uptown with the business sweep. The place on Park Row was closed with the coming of prohibition, but Moquin retained his Sixth Avenue resort. His new location will probably be in the East Fifties, which has become a rising cafe neighborhood. Louis Moquin came to America from Switzerland as an immigrant. Moquin's perhaps had more of the so-called Parisian atmosphere than any other food caravansary in Gotham.

There is always a free show on Broadway. The other afternoon a young lady in a movie cage had the misfortune to have her gold-span tresses caught in a little electric fan. She began to scream in terror. Traffic stopped. Crowds gathered. A doorkeeper extricated the lady's hair before any damage was done and the crowd moved on. Another argument for bobbed hair.

No Machine Work
A little chap was offered a chance to spend a week in the country, but refused. Coasting, pleading, arguing, promising of untold wonders, alike brought from him nothing but the stubborn ultimatum: "No country for me!"

"But why not?" some one asked finally.
"Because," he responded, "They have thrashed machine down there, and it's bad enough here where it's done by hand"—Interior.

Doc Koko's KOLUM
A Terrible Infant
By Frederick Locker-Lampson
I recollect a nurse called Ann, Who carried me about the grass, And one fine day a fine young man Came up, and kissed the pretty lass.
She did not make the least objection! Thinks I, "Aha! When I can talk, I'll tell mamma."—And that's my earliest recollection!

None For Kiddies
Dr. Allen of the State Board of Health, was holding a clinic at Scipio examining children of school age. One youngster, aged six years, was under weight. The doctor began to make inquiries as to his diet, and the following dialogue took place:
"You don't drink milk?"
"Give on a farm and don't drink milk at all!"
"Nope, we ain't got hardly enough milk for the hogs!"—Indianapolis News.

No Raise for Him
A young man asked his employer for a raise. The employer told him he didn't deserve a raise because he hadn't done any work at all last year.

What? stammered his clerk.
"Figure it out," said his boss. "There were 365 days last year. You slept eight hours each day or 122 days. That leaves 243 days. You rested eight hours a day, or another 122 days, leaving 121 days. Fifty-two Sundays you didn't work, leaving 69 days. You had an hour and a half each day for lunch, a total of 23 days, leaving 46 days. You got a half day off each Saturday, or 23 days, leaving 23 days. You got two weeks' vacation, leaving 4 days. These 4 days were New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. The office was closed on these days, so you didn't work at all."

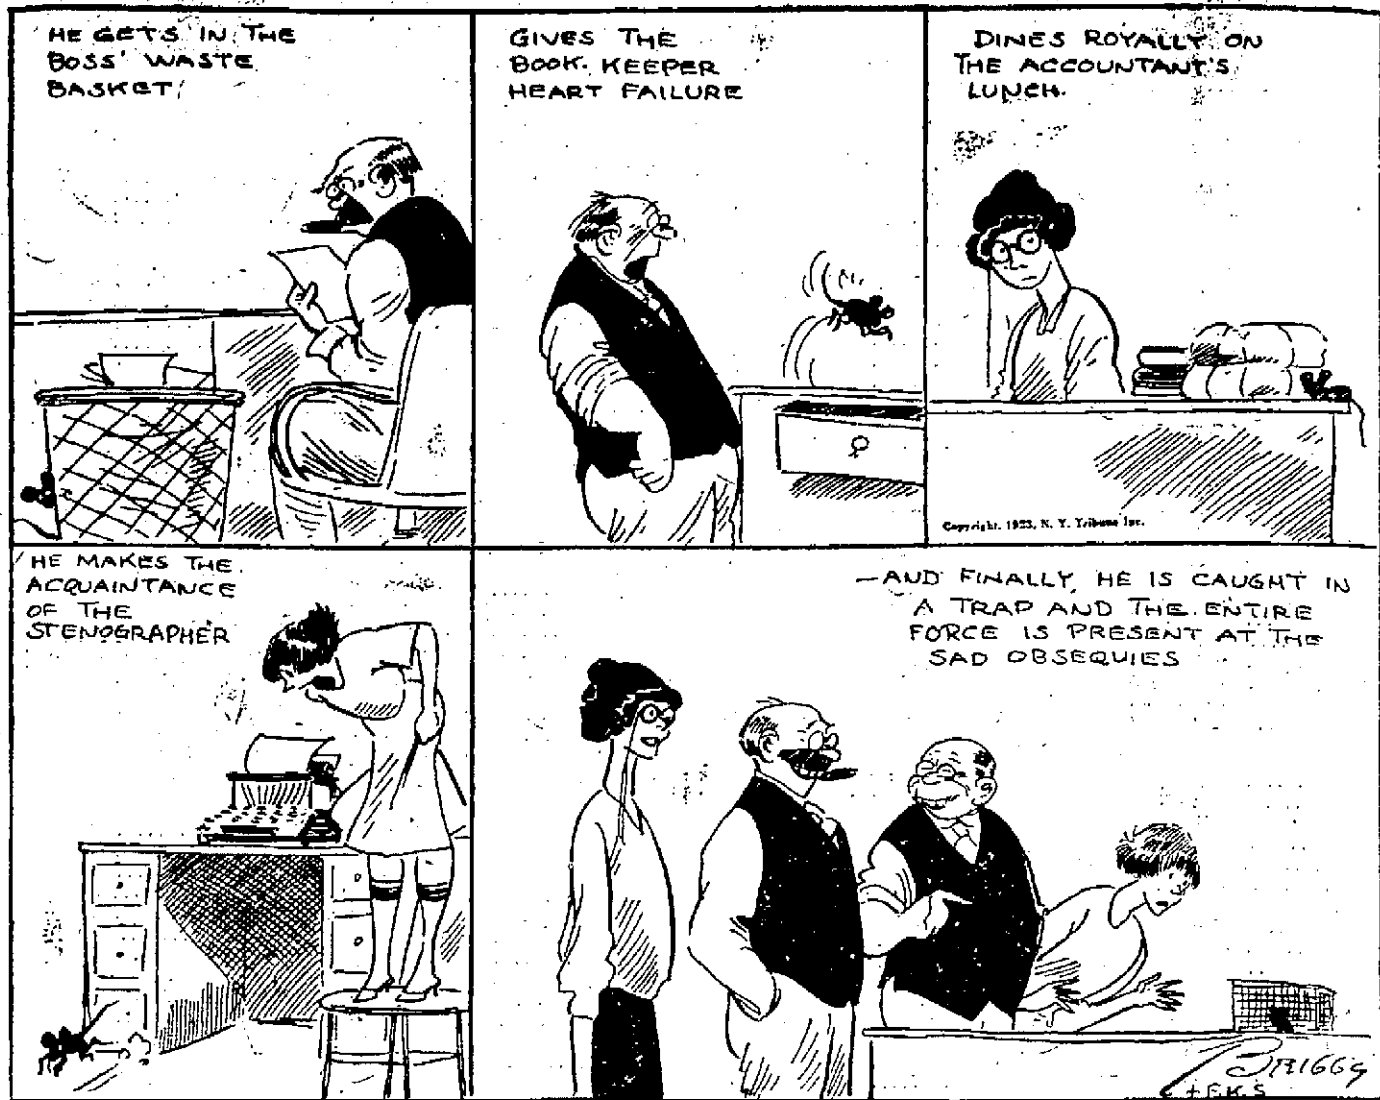

Reason Enough
By Bertin Braley
IMPULSIVE and capricious. But whimsical, delicious. In her capriciousness: You ask her why she's flouting All logic, rules and laws. She answers pertly pouting, "Just because!"

ONE moment she's all laughter, An imp on on flying feet, And then the moment after She's shy, demure and sweet; She's changeable as a season, Of sun and snow and thaws, With this her only reason, "Just because!"

SHE'll lead the man she marries A very hectic life, With all the swift vacaries With which her ways are rife. One can't be certain of her. She's full of faults and flaws, And yet—and yet I love her, "Just because!"
